Lost art of the culinary world is intricate construction of symbolic banquet centrepieces.

But it's not lost to E. A. Gebistorf, Macdonald hotel chef, who awes hotel patrons and staff with his imaginative creations, a sample of which is on the cover.

In his 20-year reign at the "Mac" Chef Gebistorf has whiled away thousands of hours building ornate oyster bar centres for sea-food buffets, miniature fruit orchards for summer suppers . . . using graceful sugared wax figurines, pine cones, an assortment of color dyes, fresh food, all mixed well with artistic imagination.

A Day To Remember!

Every woman's dream is realized in a diamond. It's the eternal symbol of love. Our selection of quality diamonds gives you the choice of the finest, regardless of what you spend.

"SWEET and SOUR" SPARE RIBS

2 lbs. of fresh pork spare ribs (chopped up in approximately one inch length. Add 1½ teaspoons of table salt, 1½ tablespoons of granulated sugar, 2 teaspoons of Lea & Perrin Sauce.

Mix well the above seasonings with the spare ribs. Then add 4 tablespoons of flour, 1 tablespoon of corn starch and remix. Then dip into a pan of deep boiling fat. Fry until browned.

SWEET AND SOUR PROCESS:

1½ cups of brown sugar, ¾ cup brown vinegar, 1½ cups of water. Heat the above ingredients to a boiling point, then add corn starch to thicken as in ordinary gravy. Now add the ready cooked spare ribs and let it boil slowly for 10 minutes.

This recipe is supplied with the compliments of the Seven Seas. Don't hesitate to give us a call, we'll be glad to help you. This recipe can be obtained at any time.

"EGG FOOYONG"

½ dozen Fresh Eggs.
3 large stocks Celery.
¾ lb. of Beansprouts.
1 teaspoon of Soy Bean Sauce.
1 teaspoon Table Salt.
½ a medium sized Spanish Onion (cut in thin slices).

Scald the above greens with boiling water, strain and fry for a few minutes in about 2 tablespoons of Mazola or Peanut Oil. Then pour these ingredients into a sauce pan and add the eggs and the seasoning. Mix well, shape as ordinary pan cakes, and fry in generous amount of Mazola or Peanut Oil. Serve with Hot Gravy, Green Onions and Sesame Seeds. You may add your favorite meat should you so desire; but Lobster, Crabmeat or Fresh Shrimps are highly recommended.

This recipe is supplied with the compliments of the Seven Seas. Don't hesitate to give us a call, we'll be glad to help you. This recipe can be obtained at any time.

COOK RICE THE CHINESE WAY

As a rule, the Chinese are very artistic in their way of rice cooking mainly because it is the main course of their daily meals. But they are also careful to select the type of rice which will bring the best result in cooking.

For instance, the rice which comes under the trade name of Blue Goose, is good only for puddings and broths, as it is in the Canadian style foods.

For the best and most practical results, we would suggest the rice sold under the trade name of "Flag Rice."

1 cup rice
1¼ cups cold water

The above ingredients, when cooked equalize three slices of bread. Wash thoroughly and drain rice 3 or 4 times before adding the water for cooking. Turn gas burner on full and let boil for 3 minutes, then gradually slow the fire down to its lowest point and let cook for 25 minutes.

2 cups bread crumbs
1 tbsp. finely chopped onion
2 tbsps. chopped parsley
½ cup chopped apple
½ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
1 egg
¼ cup milk

Mix all ingredients except bacon. Divide into 8 portions and form into small rolls. Wrap slice of bacon around each roll of stuffing and fasten with tooth pick. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg.) about 35 minutes, until bacon is cooked and brown. Serves 6 to 8.

¼ cup shortening
1 clove garlic
¼ cup white wine

Crumple bread up fine in a large bowl then mix in the onion, salt and apple, seasonings, hot water, butter or margarine. Stuff the bird with this mixture, but do not pack it in because the stuffing expands somewhat, sew the vent, tie legs together and tie wings close to body. About five minutes before it is done add white wine.

8 slices dry bread
2 eggs
1 onion
1 tsp. salt

¼ tsp. sage
¼ tsp. savory
1 cup plain cooked tomatoes.

Beat eggs, add salt, pepper and spices and onion. Put bread in water until moist. Add mixture to hamburg. Moisten with tomatoes. Put in loaf pan and bake for 1 hour in oven 325 deg. Put to cool and slice for sandwich, try as hamburg patties, omitting tomatoes.

PORK CHOPS EN CASSEROLE

Pork chops, 1 can peas, 1 can tomato soup. Cut bone away from as many pork chops as are required. Dip them in thin mixture of flour and milk and fry until brown. Season, place in casserole and pour over them 1 can peas, from which the liquid has been drained, and 1 can tomato soup. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 45 minutes

PORK CHOP DINNER

3 large pork chops
1 cup drained cooked peas
1 can condensed tomato soup
3 tbsps. juice from peas

Brown pork chops quickly in skillet over direct heat. Place on heat resistant glass platter. Pour peas, soup and juice over pork chops. Bake in moderate oven, 350 deg. about 45 minutes. Serves three

BAKED BREAST OF VEAL
(Serves 6)

Five lbs. breast of veal, have a pocket cut in by butcher. Make dressing, 3 cups bread crumbs, 2 cups cold cooked potatoes, 1 large onion, salt, pepper, sage to taste; 1 cup left-over meat. Moisten with a little water, pack in pocket and bake in a slow oven 2½ to 3 hours.

CHICKEN HADDIE PATTIES

2 eggs
12 small soda crackers
pinch salt and pepper

Roll out sodas and mix well together. Cook patties in hot fat until brown. This should make 8 to 10 patties.

10 Canadians Win Big Sweep Prizes

Freebooter First Favorite To Win National Since 1907

Eight Canadians won major Irish Sweepstakes prizes today on the Grand National at Aintree. Two others won healthy bundles of cash in the Army-Navy-Air Force Quebec Sweep.

As far as is known, no Canadian had a ticket in the Irish sweep on the winner, Freebooter. A first-place horse pays $77,500.

However, four—from Toronto, Ottawa, Clarkson (in the Toronto area) and Sudbury—held tickets on second-place Wot No Sun and won $31,000 each. Three—from Toronto, Sudbury and Ottawa—won third prizes of $15,500 each on Achton Major.

In the Army-Navy draw, Rene Deveiler of Chicoutimi, Que., won $38,000 and J. J. Levie of Quebec won second money of $23,000. Third prize of $15,000 went to C. W. Dena of New York.

IRISH WINNERS

Mrs. Josephine Pelliko, Toronto—$31,000.

H. Risser, oil company engineer at Clarkson near Toronto—$31,000.

Floyd Cleary, Sudbury—$31,000.

Mrs. Nills Ristemaki, Sudbury—$15,500.

Walter Hillier, Toronto—$15,500.

Mrs. T. G. Manley, 52-year-old Toronto secretary, whose husband is ill and jobless—$31,000.

Favorite Wins Great Classic

Wot No Sun was second and Achton Major third.

Freebooter was the favorite in the classic—on $ to 1 bet in the "overnight line" made by British bookmakers. Freebooter thus became the first favorite to win the classic since Sprig came home first in 1907.

Owned by Mrs. L. Brotherton, Freebooter was ridden over the perilous four and a half mile course by jockey J. Power carrying 165 pounds. Capt. T. D. Wilson's Wot No Sun, ridden by A. P. Thompson, was a 25 to 1 bet in the overnight line and Mrs. J. S. Gorman's Achton Major, ridden by R. J. O'Ryan, was 33 to 1.

EASY WINNER

Freebooter sailed home by 15 lengths ahead of the second-placed Wot No Sun, and Achton Major was 10 lengths behind Wot No Sun. The final odds made Freebooter a 10 to 1 bet, Wot No Sun 100 to 7 and Achton Major 33 to 1.

Rowland Roy finished fourth in the race and the royal entry Monseen, owned jointly by Princess Elizabeth and the Queen, finished fifth.

Liverpool In Cup Final By 2-0 Victory

LONDON, March 25.—(Reuters)—Liverpool qualified today to meet Arsenal in the Football Association cup final at Wembley April 29.

Liverpool moved into the final round by defeating their intra-city rivals, Everton, 2-0 before a crowd of 70,000 in neutral Manchester.

Arsenal made the grade last Wednesday when it defeated Chelsea 1-0 in a replay match which went into overtime.

FIRST SINCE 1914

For Liverpool, it will be the first cup final since 1914 when the Merseyside team lost to Burnley.

In today's semi-final, Liverpool proved master of Everton both in attack and defence. A goal was scored in each half, the first by Paisley, the clincher by Liddell.

From the start the Liverpool side proved the more dangerous. Payne led the play that brought the team's first goal after 31 minutes. He lobbed the ball over tantalizingly, Liddell headed into goalward and Burnett, the Everton goaltender, could only half punch out the ball.

GRAZES OFF GOALIE

Rogue-Tamer Laments Too Few Wells Burn

By Stanley Burke
Bulletin Staff Writer

"It always fascinated me as a kid," said the burly, modest American who now lives at Lloydminster as Alberta's only "rogue wrangler."

"Working and living around the oilfields in California, I just gradually worked into the business," he said. "Those were the days when this job was a real business.

"In Hell's Half Acre and other California fields, wells were going wild all the time. Sometimes there would be two or more burning out of control at the same time."

There was one blaze, he recalls, so great "you could read a paper by it at night 20 miles away."

But modern oilfield equipment has just gone and knocked the D9 right out from under the wild-well taming business. Main article of equipment which has spoiled Casey's precarious calling is the blowout preventer, a massive valve carried at the wellhead of all modern wells. It is used to snuff off a blowout in a matter of seconds.

In the past two years, he has had only two taming jobs—one at

TNT Charge Snuffs Fire

The blast of a 30-pound charge of dynamite yesterday smothered a roaring gas fire at a wild well in the Excelsior field, 12 miles north of here, and oil crews quickly capped the uncontrolled flow of gas.

The charge was set off near the well under the direction of Casey Ball, veteran oilwell "shooter" from Lloydminster, Sask. It cut off the oxygen supply momentarily and killed the fire which for 24 hours had turned the new well into a giant blow torch.

Then other crews moved in with equipment to install the control valve, and officials of Pacific Petroleums Ltd., owners of the well, announced tonight that all the gas had been shut off. Its flow was estimated at 10,000,000 cubic feet daily.

Flyers Use Same Squad In 4th Tilt

Injured Pechet Is Still Problem For Currie Club

By STAN MOHER
Bulletin Sports Editor

CALGARY, March 25. — There's just one fly in the salve as Flyers contemplate tonight's fourth game of the Western Canada Hockey league final against Calgary Stampeders: Mitch Pechet has suffered "another" leg injury. This time it's a charley-horse.

Pechet plays for Stamps of course. And under ordinary circumstances any mishap suffered by him should be looked upon as a break for the Flyers. Except that with Pechet, it doesn't work out that way.

According to pre-game reports he was all but a cripple taking the ice for the third contest, won by Calgary 4-3. So what does he do but score a pair of goals!

TANGLED WITH YOUNG

However during a third period mix-up at centre ice he tangled with Harvey (Pug) Young, tank-like Flyer defenceman. Out of this grew the charley-horse, a sometimes-painful leg condition.

This morning Flyers' only consolation lay in reports that Pechet's was just an ordinary, run-of-the-mill charley-horse. If it's alright with the Stampeders, Flyers are hoping the injury has entirely cleared up by game time.

Coach Frank Currie plans no line-up changes for the fourth contest. In other words he'll stick with the same crew that has brought off two wins in three starts in the series so far. This means that the disappointing Steve Latoski again will direct traffic on a line flanked by Colin Kilburn and Don Culley.

CAN'T STAY THAT WAY

Bill Is Given First Reading In House

Albertans may soon be allowed to buy and drink liquor in clubs and canteens.

A bill given first reading in the legislature yesterday provides for this amendment to Alberta Liquor Control Act. The bill was introduced by Premier Ernest Manning.

If it is approved after second and third readings, it will mark the first major relaxation in the province's rigid liquor laws since they came into effect in 1924.

Clubs which would be granted permission to sell liquor for consumption on the premises by members or by guests must operate a dining room for the regular service and provide recreational facilities for patrons, the amendment states.

Licences are to be granted only to those clubs which have been in operation for such time as Alberta Liquor Control Board designates.

CHANGE IN HOURS

Another amendment would permit beer parlors to remain open until 11 p.m., provided their morning opening time is not earlier than 8 a.m.

At present beer parlors may open at 7 a.m., but must close at 10 p.m.

Consumption of beer in compartments or bedrooms on trains will be permitted if the bill is approved.

In localities where no liquor store operates, druggists will be allowed to keep up to 52 ounces of liquor in stock for medicinal purposes.

LOCAL OPTION VOTE

The new bill clarifies the definition of "residence", ruling that living quarters connected by a door with a business place cannot be considered a residence.

It provides for golf club licences of $100 under the Liquor Control Act.

Second plebiscite vote may be taken within a year where between 50 and 60 per cent of voters favor beer sales in local option votes. A 60 per cent affirmative vote will result in granting of beer licences in local option areas.

BOTH WIN IN WRANGLE

Bitter Cabinet Split Aired In Debate on Jockey Club

Front-bench opinion in the Alberta legislature split yesterday on whether Edmonton should have more horse racing.

Bitterly opposed by Agriculture Minister Hon. David A. Ure was a bill seeking incorporation of the Northern Alberta Jockey Club, which intends to build a race track in or near Edmonton and to hold regular meets.

Equally as spirited in the debate was Hon. Lucien Maynard, Alberta attorney-general, racing fan and race horse owner, who introduced and supported the bill.

It was the first clash of views of cabinet ministers apparent in the House during the current session.

The wrangle between the two front benchers lasted until Mr. Ure gained House support to withhold one clause of the bill "until members have had a chance to think it over." The clause would permit the club to hold "exhibitions and contests" for prizes and awards.

The remainder of the bill was given second reading.

Race meets held in conjunction with western summer fairs, including the Edmonton Exhibition, would suffer if the jockey club were incorporated and permitted to carry through its plans, Mr. Ure argued.

Mr. Maynard replied that neither the Speers Corporation which operates western race meets, nor Edmonton Exhibition officials opposed incorporation of the club.

The agriculture minister's statement that "I only see one horseman" among sponsors of the bill was an "uncalled for insinuation," Mr. Maynard said.

House opinion divided as the cabinet minister spoke. Liberal Leader J. Harper Prowse and Social Credit whip Gordon Taylor siding with Mr. Maynard, and Independent Social Crediter Arthur Wray with Mr. Ure.

"Who will benefit from incorporation of the jockey club?" Social Credit back bencher Michael Ponich asked.

"Horsemen," replied Mr. Maynard.

"—and horses!" Mr. Ponich added.

"ARE THEY any cheaper by the dozen?"

"AND she had the gall to talk about my hair."

Flash Fire Destroys Garage After Blast

Besides the one-storey stucco building, three cars and one tractor were completely demolished. All were covered by insurance.

The explosion of unknown origin shook the station about 11.15 yesterday morning, followed by flames which levelled the building within a half hour. Three persons in the service station at the time were uninjured.

Those were the owner, Orville Falls, wife, Conrad Hagen, and mechanic, Earl Baltimore.

The station was situated on main street opposite the telephone office. Operator Ruby Rombough reported that the explosion could be heard for blocks around.

Fire fighters under the supervision of fire chief Alistair Gregory were unable to save anything from the building. They succeeded in preventing flames from spreading to McLennan Hardware next door. All out was rounded at 12:30 p.m. with only one wall remaining of the smouldering ruins.

Bakeries Took Turns Supplying Institutions

CALGARY, March 25.—(CP)—Lt.-Col. George Weir of Edmonton testified the larger Calgary bakeries used to take turns by arrangement in supplying bread to big institutions.

The former secretary of the Alberta Master Bakers' Association gave this testimony yesterday at the fifth day of the preliminary hearing of bread combine charges against the six western Canada bakeries and the Bakery Employers' Association of Alberta (formerly the Alberta Master Bakers' Association).

ALL BID SAME PRICE

Bakeries charged by the federal justice department with attempting to corner the bread market are Canadian Bakeries Ltd., Calgary; Edmonton City Baking Ltd., Western Bread and Cake (Canada) Ltd., Winnipeg, and three McGavin Bakery Companies at Winnipeg, Edmonton and Vancouver.

Col. Weir said it was the practice in the baking industry to give "special consideration to institutions" because a large volume of bread would be delivered to one place. All the large Calgary bakeries submitted the same agreed price and the association then awarded the business in rotation.

BROUGHT "INTO LINE"

Despite the objection of defence counsel, crown counsel C. S. Blanchard read into court records the minutes of an association meeting. The minutes, Col. Weir said, "must have been prepared by me."

One paragraph in the minutes read: "June 28, large retail organizations has started to sell bread at less than the minimum retail price but the secretary reported we were able to bring them into line."

Another paragraph said: "It was brought to the attention of the meeting that rebates had not been discontinued." Col. Weir said the rebates were "secret discounts" from regular prices given to privileged stores by a particular baker.

The minutes also included a reference to the price of hot cross buns having been "fixed at the meeting."

Earlier dynamite explosions caused damage to railway property at Glade and Kinnaird, villages in the Doukhobor community.

Bombing of the rail lines caused a near-reign of terror in the Kootenay districts, 250 miles east of Vancouver, and for a time special guards were placed on the CPR Track inspectors preceded all trains.

Radio Singing Called Atrocious

NELSON, March 25.—(BUP)—C. S. Lang, an English musical adjudicator, said today there should be a law against radio singing.

"It's atrocious," he said, "that people should be able to get up in front of a microphone and make noises like that."

Nebraska has a water supply of more than 1,000,000,000 acre-feet per year.

Another Vote For Belgium

BRUSSELS, Belgium, March 25—(BUP)—A violent 24-hour general strike protesting the possible return of King Leopold III ended on schedule today, but the royalty dispute was far from solution.

With neither pro-Leopold nor anti-Leopold forces apparently able to form a government that would command a majority in parliament, observers believed regent Prince Charles may dissolve the chambers and order new elections in 40 days.

If so, it would be the fourth time in less than a year that Belgians have gone to the polls with Leopold's return the main issue. In a direct plebiscite on the question March 12, the exiled King won a 57.7 per cent over-all majority, but failed to carry Brussels and four Walloon provinces.

Drumheller Coal Interests Howe

OTTAWA, March 22.—(CP)—Trade minister Howe told Commons he will be glad to look into reports of surplus coal going unwanted in Alberta's Drumheller area.

C. E. Johnston (SC)-Bow River reported that loss of coal contracts had created a serious unemployment situation and asked what policy the government had in mind.

Mr. Howe said he knew of no serious situation there. There had been talk a month or so ago of a coal shortage in western Canada

OPERA SETS NORTH RECORD

MORINVILLE, March 25. —Alberta's first formal opera concert north of Edmonton was presented here last night.

Pupils of J. Sirrett of San Francisco are heading now for Dawson Creek, B.C., for another presentation.

Those taking part here included Robert Goulet, Barbara Parker, Priscilla Gilbeau, Carmen Tellier. A violin recital was given by David Middleton. The coloratura soprano, Arlene Jorgenson of Barrhead and Florence Boothman also were on the program.

Well-Taming Business Slow

"You'd never make a living any more out of wild-well shooting," he said. Most of his work is shooting flame wells to loosen the producing formation. This is most commonly done in sand formations such as at Lloydminster.

The spectacular fire which broke out at Pacific Petroleum's Excelsior number two well occurred only through the most ironic twist of fate, he explained.

The well was regarded as another "duster." Tests for oil and gas had revealed nothing in several zones.

Then—only a matter of seconds before the crew would have finished bolting down the tempered lily-removed blowout preventer—the dead well suddenly came to wrathful life.

Casey Hall who is known throughout the industry as a "man without nerves," lived up to his reputation yesterday as he casually ambled down the hill to the roaring well with his dynamite-loaded "torpedo" under his arm. With the fuse lit, he and toolpush Garnet Edwards went in under streams of water to lay the bomb beside the 3,000 degree flame-jet.

ONLY ONE MISTAKE

His biggest and most famous blast was in 1946 in Turner Valley when he shook half the oilfield with a tremendous charge of 5,280 quarts of nitro glycerin. The giant blast was made in an attempt to loosen the formation.

Nitroglycerin is commonly used for underground shots, he explained, but he prefers dynamite for wild-well taming.

"It gives a slower blast and shuts off the gas for a longer time," he said.

The rogue-wrangler has never been injured in a blast although he has been singed and burned on a number of occasions by flames from the fires.

LITTLE COMPETITION

He admits there is an element of danger in his business—but then there is hardly any competition.

"The main thing is to know what you are doing before you do it and make sure you've got somewhere to run to," he commented.

The job calls for ferquent handling of both solid and liquid nitroglycerine which has to be trucked over rough, oilfield roads. Nitro charges are set off with giant blasting caps, 40 times the size of those used with dynamite, which are so sensitive a slight tap will set them off, probably killing or maiming anyone within 75 or 100 feet.

Casey has never been injured in a blast—but he hates to think of the time he dropped a full box of solid nitroglycerine. For some reason it didn't go off but he wouldn't bet on it a second time.

Albeita is about the toughest country in the world for an oil well shooter, Casey said, because of the low winter temperatures.

"When that stuff gets cold it gets as skittery as a young colt," he said.

Russian Campaign Forecast By U.S.

Special to the Bulletin

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(UP)—U.S. officials reported today mounting evidence that Russia is planning a new campaign to push the Western Allies out of Berlin during the next few months.

These officials said that the Russians probably would use "other methods than those used in the past." Details, of course, were not known, but it was believed here that the Soviets might try to make the East Germans appear responsible for the expected push.

Communist-sponsored organizations already are promoting "German Unity" and a "National Front." Communist youth movements plan a march on western Berlin in May.

MOVE LIKELY

"Nobody will be fooled by such a thin disguise over what is obviously a Russian effort," one American official said. He added that use of Russian-trained Eastern German police in an attempt to take over the city is considered likely.

It is partly in anticipation of the new Russian drive, informed quarters say, that John J. McCloy, the U. S. high commissioner to Western Germany is pressing for allied reinforcements.

They said that it is hoped that this will demonstrate to Germans of both zones that the western powers are sincerely in favor of unifying Germany and want it brought about in the most democratic manner possible.

A senate military appropriations subcommittee voted unanimously to call the general, but set no date for his appearance. The call was issued as the nation's top top air force officials asked the subcommittee to restore a $43,000,000 House cut in their budgets.

Eisenhower said in New York that "America has already disarmed to the extent—in some directions even beyond the extent —that I, with deep concern for her safety, could possibly advise." He said he was particularly concerned in view of Russia's re-armament.

Stamp-Savers Get 'First'

OTTAWA, March 25.—(BUP)—Stamp collectors will be able to put a new "first" item in their albums next month.

Postmaster General Edouard Rinfret announced today that special arrangements were being made for collectors for air mail to be carried by the first international flight of a jet airliner.

The flight was to be made from Toronto, on April 18, to Idlewyld airport, New York.

Rinfret said stamp collectors could send envelopes, with the proper Canadian airmail postage, to the postmaster in Toronto, not later than April 16, and they would be sent to New York or subsequent destination by way of the jetliner flight. The envelopes would be specially marked for collectors.

Senate Asks Ike Explain 'Concern' Over Armament

Exclusive to The Bulletin

WASHINGTON, March 25 — BUP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was summoned today to explain to an aroused and disturbed congress what he meant when he said he is "deeply concerned" by the extent of U.S. disarmament.

A senate military appropriations subcommittee voted unanimously to call the general, but set no date for his appearance. The call was issued as the nation's top top air force officials asked the subcommittee to restore a $43,000,000 House cut in their budgets.

Eisenhower said in New York that "America has already disarmed to the extent—in some directions even beyond the extent —that I, with deep concern for her safety, could possibly advise." He said he was particularly concerned in view of Russia's re-armament.

Czechs Flee In 3 Planes

FRANKFURT, Germany, March 25.—(AP)—The U.S. air force today announced about 55 of the 85 Czechs who landed in the U.S. zone of Germany yesterday want to return to their Communist-ruled homeland.

The Czechs landed at the Erding air base near Munich in three planes. Two of the planes, the air force said, "landed voluntarily."

Most of them had bought tickets for Prague and "evidently had no knowledge that they were to land in the U.S. zone of Germany."

The planes, the air force said, departed from Bratislava, Ostrava and Brno—"widely separated cities in Czechoslovakia" — and were cleared for Prague.

Secretive Mr. MacMillan

The passion for secrecy that obsesses the Honorable D. B. MacMillan is one of the unhappy weak spots in an otherwise able and efficient government.

Mr. MacMillan carries his official taciturnity to an objectionable and sometimes almost a mischievous point.

He refuses, as a general thing, to confide in the press. And since the press is the ear and the tongue of people, this means that Mr. MacMillan excludes the public from his confidence as well.

Mr. MacMillan declines to give details, even to the legislative assembly, of the road contracts awarded by his department.

Nobody knows what bids were made on these contracts.

Nobody even knows, usually, where roads are to be built until the graders are on the job.

In any other province, detailed road programs are made public months in advance.

Mr. MacMillan tells nothing.

He asserts that bids should not be made public because the revelation of competitive figures might result in a loss to his department.

That would be a good argument if Mr. MacMillan were running a private business.

But Mr. MacMillan is not running a private business. He is running the people's business with the people's money.

And the people are entitled to know every last fact about it.

What is going on in Mr. MacMillan's department that all this stealth should be considered necessary?

What is wrong?

What is it that has to be hidden?

These are questions that are being asked freely throughout Alberta, and unless Mr. MacMillan is able and willing to make an early and satisfactory reply to them, his chronic reticence is going to destroy much of the public confidence enjoyed by the government to which he belongs.

The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime

Are We Utilizing Federal Health Aid?

How many thousands of dollars has Alberta lost because the provinces has either failed or refused to qualify for federal health grants?

Ottawa offers cash for many of the medical and health needs of Alberta residents. Possibly the Alberta department does not want to give the federal department credit for this assistance. But we keep hearing about cash amounts which cannot be used, such as the thousands of dollars which Alberta hospitals have been prevented from securing, or the grants which have been lost because of our lack of health units.

The Alberta government has always given the impression that it wanted health units established. Yet it comes as a blow to learn that Alberta citizens have had to forego about $100,000 of federal money because there were not sufficient health units to qualify for it.

Surely, if the department were serious about improving Alberta health conditions, it would be making strenuous efforts to establish more health units, particularly in when the federal government is ready to contribute to certain costs.

The Objective Sounds Good

The department's booklet on health services has this to say about the value of health units:

"The value of the health unit is best illustrated by the work done in a single year. For example, on the establishment of one unit it was found that a very low percentage of the children were protected against diphtheria and smallpox. By the end of the second year's operations, almost all children of school age were so protected."

Health units, of course, look after sanitary conditions, prevention of disease and all other matters which will reduce the amount of disease and illness. It is certainly wise to try to prevent disease instead of simply spending thousands on trying to cure it.

The department statement winds up with the suggestion that it is hoped to cover all of Alberta with such health units.

But This Is The Reality

Yet, here is what has happened. In 1939 health units were established in Red Deer and High River. In 1938 a unit was started in Lamont, Stettler in 1939, Stur-geon in 1940, Rosebud (Didsbury) in 1946, Clover Bar, Holden and Two Hills in 1941, Drumheller in 1948. That is all the health units in the whole of Alberta, apart from certain city services provided by the cities at their own expense. The department claims credit for establishing what it calls "one-nurse units," but when you realize that according to the department's own statement, a health unit staff consists of "a medical officer, at least two public health nurses, a sanitary inspector, and a secretary-technician," it becomes obvious that a "one-nurse" district is at best an excuse. One nurse could never begin to do a fraction of the necessary work.

In a province which praises the work of health units in preventing disease and protecting both children and adults, 10 units in 19 years doesn't seem to be very much.

At the same time, it appears that salary schedules are held so low that Canadian medical men will not accept them.

Rural People Want Districts

Other districts have applied to be formed into health units, yet nothing seems to be done about them. Certainly, if health units are not formed more rapidly than every year or so, it will be a generation before this province is served.

Apparently the people in the rural areas want this health service because, not only are they applying for the formation of units, but those which have been formed are voluntarily contributing extra cash because the government arbitrarily holds down the amount it will pay. In this way citizens are attempting to secure trained personnel.

Edmonton and Calgary apparently operate on assessment, even though these cities contribute large sums in taxes. Drumheller, which is also a city, receives assistance in the administration.

The point, however, is that after properly showing the advantages of these units, department policy would seem to do everything possible to delay and discourage much progress. People in the oil centres need health services badly, as do those in the new village of Jasper Place. If the department doesn't believe in health services, why not say so? If it does, then why not go around with it leaving the bulk of the province to get along as best it can?

Italian Domination Again an Issue

Spokesmen for His Holiness the Pope have indicated that a three-man cabinet may soon be set up in the Vatican to take over many of the governing details of the Roman Catholic Church.

The nominees for this triumvirate are said to be three Italians.

Now the spiritual activities of the Vatican are exclusively the business of Roman Catholics. But since the Vatican has established itself as a sovereign state, the temporal and political activities of the Vatican become of interest to friends of every communion or denomination.

The latter wonder, since Italian Roman Catholics number only 42,000,000 among the 329,775,663 Roman Catholics of the world, if it is wholesome that Italian cardinals should dominate the political enterprises of the Church.

They wonder, since that Church is destined to play such a vital part in the world's resistance to Communism, if a little greater international flavor would not make the Church's protective role slightly more palatable to the democracies of the world.

'Begotten . . . Before All Worlds'

As the Lenten season hurries onward towards Good Friday when Jesus Christ shed His Blood on Calvary for the redemption of the world, it is necessary to estimate again and again the nature of this Divine Son of God who came into the world that men might have light and life.

The miracle of the redemption means nothing except in relationship to the nature of Christ.

The Crucifixion was no more than a local tragedy and the Resurrection was only an incomprehensible trick unless they are both considered as manifestations of divine goodness moving to save men from the consequences of their sins.

And so, to cast a further light on the Person of Jesus Christ, a part of the 8th chapter of St. John's Gospel is usually read in churches on this second Sunday before Easter Day.

This chapter tells of a dispute Jesus was having with certain of the Jews who charged Him with making Himself out to be greater than Abraham. They said:

"Art thou greater than our father Abraham, which is dead?"

And presently Jesus answered and said

"Your father Abraham rejoiced to see my day, and he saw it and was glad."

Then the Jews scoffed at Him, saying:

"Thou art not yet fifty years old, and hast thou seen Abraham?"

Then Jesus said one of the most tremendous things that appears in Holy Scripture. In a quiet, almost an offhand way, he replied:

"Before Abraham was, I am."

There, in five words, is the entire difference between Christ and any other man who ever lived.

Abraham is described in the past tense because he was a mortal who had lived and had died. Christ is described in the present tense because He is timeless. He existed with God from the beginning. He was the same before the foundation of the world as He is today and as He will be to the end of time.

In its first chapter, the Gospel of St. John says it in still another way:

"In the beginning was the Word (Christ), and the Word was with God, and the Word was God."

The Creed says it even more plainly:

"I believe . . . in one Lord Jesus Christ, the only-begotten Son of God, begotten of His Father before all worlds, God of God, Light of Light, very God of very God, begotten, not made, being of one substance with the Father; by whom all things were made; who for us men and our salvation came down from heaven."

This is Christ who is God, who died on the Cross for our sins and who rose from the dead that those who "believe on His Name" may dwell with Him forever in His kingdom.

Letters to the Editor

Canine Nuisance

Editor, Bulletin—It was a great feeling of relief for me and neighbors to read in The Bulletin that something was going to be done about this uncontrolled dog nuisance that we are pestered with. It seems that we can control all other pests, but these dogs—

The owners have so completely subjucated their minds that they look like dogs and act like dogs and if you complain they growl and bark like dogs.

Magistrate McCulla is very fortunate that he has only 17 on his street. We have listened to them barking and chasing cars all last summer and winter. Soon it will be summer again, and it will be impossible to sit and read on your lawn, or even in the house when you have the doors and windows open. Don't tell me that all we have to do is complain to the police. We have tried and with no results. There is a law and if the police don't enforce it, some frustrated people take it in their own hands. I don't believe in poisoning them because it's not the dogs' fault; it is the owners who should be poisoned. They have no consideration for anyone else, and are very poor neighbors.

Anyone who thinks about his dog will look after him, and won't let him run loose. There are lots of good dogs and lots of people who own them. Those. There is a definite place for them, not running loose in the city streets, making a nuisance of themselves.

Support for Mrs. Landsman

Editor, Bulletin — I would like to support Mrs. W. R. Stewart's letter that appeared in your paper a few days ago, expressing certain sentiments in connection with Mrs. Pearl Landsman's disabilities. Being one of her pupils, I was closely associated with her for several years prior to her arthritic condition, in addition to a high standard of efficiency in the class room she always was cheerfulness and active in community work. It is significant to note that she has devoted about half her life to promote the welfare of arthritic cripples. The "New Bulletin" that has done so much for so many could do worse than sponsor a "Pearl Landsman" campaign to make available to her every known medical facility including Cortisone and ACTH.

The restoration of the full use of her faculties would help her to help others of her ilk in a lonely and ceaseless manner so clearly displayed this far. To say the least, her recovery would be a substantial contribution to social service of her super personality.

May she be blessed with the best and the strength and courage to keep up the good fight.

[illegible] Street

Train Whistle

Editor, Bulletin — Much has been said about the evolution of Edmonton as a city, and each passing day sees more and more progress being made in this respect; there is, however, to my way of thought, an item which would tend to offset some of the favorable progress which should be remedied without delay. If we are to continue along the road of progress.

We have here a situation most typical of small towns and villages, inasmuch as we permit and tolerate railroad locomotives to emit ear-splitting noises within the city limits and at all hours of the day and night.

Anyone who has been awakened, or has had his children awakened in the small hours of the night or morning by this [illegible] screaming, knows only too well what a nerve-shattering experience it can be. The situation here in Edmonton is made considerably worse when one realizes that three railroad companies operate lines into the city.

There is absolutely no sense or reason for this racket within the city limits; other progressive cities in Canada and in the USA have banned completely such noise.

Of course, critics will answer that locomotive engineers are obliged by regulation to sound the whistle when approaching grade crossings wherever there may be, if same be unprotected by gates to close off cross traffic.

Here then, lies the answer to the problem—have all the grade crossings within the city limits protected by safety gates. The cost should be no argument or obstacle for I am sure that many families would only be too pleased to spend a few dollars extra in taxes in order to help do away with such a nerve racking din.

CIVIC MINDED.

Farmers' Interests

Editor, Bulletin.—Are the best interests of western farmers, and our agriculture being served by being shackled to the Ottawa mentality of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, whose decisions by its 10 directors, is absolute law, even against the mass decision of its affiliated members.

Thousands of Alberta farmers refuse to be regimentated into this CFA, via the FUA, and this is one of the main reasons for farm union's meagre membership.

Alberta farmers refuse to be treated as puppets, or come to heel when CFA president Hannam whistles.

Would it not be in the best interests of western farmers to dilen this CFA bunch of moguls, and form our own prairie farm block—a block where democratic prairie farmers could find an outlet for their aims, aspirations and activities by keeping our western interests to the forefront, and not as now, repeatedly having our markets stolen from us, so as to serve the policies of CFA and eastern predatory interests.

Haven't we got the guts and brains in the prairie provinces to manage our own business or must we always have to bow to the blundering and unpredictable decisions of the CFA?

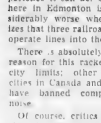
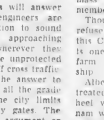
THE QUESTION: What do you think about Alberta becoming debt free in 1973?

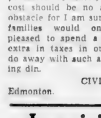
THE ANSWERS:



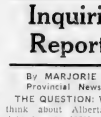
Hugh W. Allen, president Alberta Livestock Co-operative: I question whether we can get out of debt within that time. Every generation demands improved public services and although we might pay less than past debt paid, considerably more will have been accumulated.



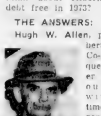
I. McMinn, special policeman The province will have to go some to be free of debt. Times are good now—but they might take a turn for the worse. If that happens it will be impossible to finish off the debt within 23 years.



A. J. Chernetski, livestock supervisor: If business conditions continue there should be no reason why the government cannot erase the debt. Oil development is in its infancy. Our possibilities are the most of any province in the Dominion.



Sid Sheppard, manager, Alberta Livestock Co-operative: If we are debt free in that time it will be due to our natural resources and I'm sure we will be the only province in North America. I would be very pleased to see it.



Lawrence Rye, R.H., Edmonton: I'm not a Social Creditor and don't put them in out of town. They'll keep up this social insanity as no reason why the province can't be free of debt in 10 years. Good planning will do it.

It's Not So Simple, Senator McCarthy

Senator McCarthy has too simple an explanation for the lamentable state into which the West has fallen. Since it has met defeat after defeat, always with the Soviet Union as beneficiary, he suspects that Soviet agents must be doing an inside job in the government.

Now, it is true that during the war and immediately thereafter there were Communist sympathizers in the government, and some may remain. But if they were effective, it was because the United States, having fought the war only for victory, emerged from it without any intelligible policy at all. Had there been a policy, the suggestions of say, Harry Dexter White—who, Van Hornig Morgenthau, Jr., exercised over the White House a considerable influence—would have been measured and judged in the light of that policy. It was the intention of Mr. White, reputedly author of the Morgenthau plan, to destroy the German nation—should the Western Allies trial plans, flood the coal mines, and turn all Germany into potato-diggers on allotment farms.

Russians Aimed At Division, Chaos

Now, whether or not Mr. White was a Communist, Mr. Morgenthau was not. Yet he made this policy his own. So did hundreds of thousands of Americans who merely thought their plans, intentions, and by no stretch of imagination can be called Communists. The Daily Worker supported Morgenthau, and Mr. Morgenthau's indignant testimony that, "He never reads that paper," is not to his credit. He should. If one discerns that American foreign affairs support a policy which is repudiated in Moscow, It is reasonable to assume, without investigation of the editorship, that it is an American action which, if carried out, will aid the Soviets.

The Russians, however, emerged from the war with a platform for the creation of a new world order of contiguous states, organized on a single political pattern, very complex, integrated military and economic systems, and knit together by a common faith and serious church. A new Rome, with its seat, as the Eastern Roman Emperors and bishops dreamed a thousand years ago, "out in the West but in the East. And this was clear to some of us by the Spring of 1945.

To achieve this it was essential permanently to weaken, by truncation, division, and economic chaos, what was left of Germany, the strongest European nation, in order then to attach her power potential to the new empire.

Had the West had an intelligent agent or two within the Politburo, they would immediately have been purged because of the policies they advocated—contrary to the clear and simple policy envisaged.

U.S. Had no Alternative Idea

But the United States had no concept of any European or world order to emerge as a solution for the problems created by the war. There was, therefore, no frame of reference by which any proposition could be judged. Under such circumstances, had the state department been staffed with members of the Union League Club, we would have been led to the Russian kite. For you cannot defeat a plan without a plan, or an idea without a idea.

At this moment the German situation is extremely critical. If I may say so, developments there were foreseen by this columnist four years ago.

Yet, though the French government is not Communist, judged by our standards, it might as well be. At Potsdam the three powers agreed on German economic unity and to establish a common German ministry in Berlin. Had that been done, there might have been no Iron Curtain. But this was torpedoed not by Russia but by France, which is still the chief obstacle to East and West German consensus.

At Moscow, M. Bidault—obsessed not by Communism but by fear—worked to trade off recognition of East German truncation for the Saar. In Germany exiled Moscow well-informed pro-Western Germans are convinced that an East-West agreement is pending, probably with Russia going to the Russians. The French will not hear of it as a German capital, and Britain is trailing with France.

But—write it down—if this happens, the ruination of Europe will be accompanied.

And not by Communists—though they will be the beneficiaries.

ODDS AND ENDS By Harold L. Weir

On the Relative Merits Of Nighties and Pyjamas

There was something of a fuss in Hollywood last week. I understand, when purveyors of haberdashery to film stars tried to introduce the new fashion from Paris known as a "strapless" evening gown. One or two ladies actually tried it.

WEIR

Hedda Hopper reported that Hedda's gossipy self-appointed boss, Louella O. Parsons, said he wouldn't be found dead at one of them.

Anne Miller, Warner star, answered with a categorical statement: "Anything besides nightgowns should know that no male should ever expose his knees."

I gather that Hollywood took the position that one dresses for bed for purposes of glamour. And considering the fact that so many Hollywood scenes are shot in bed-rooms, one may see some thing to the viewpoint.

But the French, who are an essentially practical people, have gone for the new fingers-length nightdress in a big way.

Personally I think it is the greatest contribution made by France to civilization since Messrs. Hennessey and Martel began to do subtle and devilish things with the juice of the grape.

Serious Problem

I have no intention, you understand, of being facetious about this business of the finger-length nightie.

In all sober sincerity, the problem of what to wear in the hay is one of the most serious matters that confronts the adult male.

Night attire, of course, has changed constantly throughout the ages.

Primitive savages, presumably, crawled underneath their bear-skins in the raw as many savages do in this country and elsewhere today.

And those as costumes worn in the supreme moments of romance and fancy nightwear following such occasions.

Richard I of England, I have read, used to wrap himself in a [illegible] robe trimmed with ermine when he rolled in the arms of Morpheus which sounds very nice indeed, but it must have been hot.

Dumas has an entertaining account of Henri III preparing himself for bed in an elaborate garment of lace and fur. The monarch, it seems, used to have himself annointed with fragrant oils before he retired and was decked out in gloves, a hat and a face mask.

Hollywood would have been crazy about Henri III.

Evolution Marches On

We don't hear very much more about night attire until we get into the era of the fair and lovely Georges who, strangely enough, seem to have favoured the fashion of full flowing nightgowns.

It must have been really something to see these portly ornaments, their [illegible] stained with [illegible] and [illegible] four-posters o'nights swathed in nightcaps and were four inches around the bottoms and were set off by a nightcap something like a schoolboy's tam.

But all or any of these sleeping fashions were dreams of delight compared to that device of the devil whereby mankind on humanity carry on [illegible] under the thrice accursed thing of pyjamas.

I cannot rather have wriggled and jiggled in the furry room of the Tuscan court of [illegible] in the night mask of Hank Vaiss or gone to bed in the flamelette monstrosity of Beau Brummel than to wear for one single hour these grisly modern garments whose [illegible] compare able to the embrace of the mediaeval instrument of torture known as the "Iron Maiden."

I have always maintained that pyjamas were invented by some elderly spinster whose passion for modesty was equalled only by her hatred for men.

Evasive Custom

It is a well known fact that full sets of pyjamas are worn only by bank managers, clergymen and undertakers, who get a lot of night calls.

Almost everybody else sports the foul things in a [illegible]

Some wear the tops. Some wear the bottoms. But nearly everybody buys them in sets and nonchalantly puts on only when on a train on the theory that the well-dressed man must be [illegible] covered in a woman.

And now the French [illegible] magnificent [illegible] something about the [illegible] anomaly.

They have produced a pyjama top which is short enough [illegible] common and long enough for [illegible] under normal circumstances.

I can't think of anything that represents a greater advance in human progress [illegible].

For the problem of keeping warm in bed is one of the greatest problems of all ages.

And, even in the severe adaptation by King David in his old age [illegible] he was [illegible] to use every available [illegible].

18 Anti-Francoites Are Sent to Prison

Former Madrid Governor Among Those Sentenced

OCANA, Spain, March 25.—(UP)—A former civil governor of Madrid and 17 co-defendants went to jail today for from two to 25 years for anti-Franco activities.

A 12-man military court found the 18 guilty last night.

Although the state prosecutor had demanded a 30-year sentence for him, Antonio Trigo, the former Madrid governor, drew only a two-year term.

He was charged with representing the Socialists in a secret international co-ordination committee working for a United front with the Monarchists.

The other chief defendant, Antonio Castanos, who admitted he was secretary of the underground labor organization CNT, was given a 25-year sentence. The prosecutor had demanded a 30-year sentence.

OTHER 25 YEAR

The only other 25-year sentence was meted out to Luis Rojas, admitted CNT treasurer. The indictment accused Rojas of keeping copies of statements made by U.S. secretary of state Dean Acheson in 1949 and by exiled right-wing Spanish Socialist Indalecio Prieto in his home.

Defence attorney Capt. Garcia Vinuesa had urged the acquittal of all 18 defendants.

"The present regime is so solidly in power," he said, "that it can afford to be magnanimous . . . they just engaged in a little freedom of thought."

All 18 defendants were arrested last July during a crackdown on anti-government activity. The trial lasted only one day.

Rugby Teams Name Trains

Two crack daylight flyers named the Stampeder and the Eskimo will be put into daily service between Calgary and Edmonton April 30 by Canadian Pacific Railway.

Made up of the most modern, lightweight equipment the new trains will maintain a four and one-half-hour schedule between the two cities.

They are in addition to three other trains now on the run from each end—an overnight, a day local and the Chinook.

Departure will be 8.30 a.m. from Calgary and 2.00 p.m. from Edmonton with an eye to the sporting crowd going to a game as well as the businessman going to a conference.

The Stampeder will arrive in the Alberta capital at 1 p.m.

The Eskimo arrives at Calgary at 7.30 p.m. The trains will have three new day coaches with "Sleepy Hollow" chairs, engineered for comfort. The buffet parlor car will offer the latest chair and dining accommodation.

New Drama Is Tragedy

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, March 25.—(CP)—Gian-Carlo Menotti's "The Consul" is a magnificent and heart-searing tragedy. He has fashioned the musical drama around the efforts of freedom-loving individuals to escape from Europe's modern police-estate.

The action takes place "somewhere in Europe." John Sorel, pursued by his country's secret police for his underground political activities, is forced to flee abroad, leaving his wife, their ailing child and his elderly mother.

His wife, Magda, endeavors to obtain a visa to a "free" country where she hopes to join her husband. She haunts the country's consulate daily but red tape delays her papers. Meanwhile her undernourished child and the mother, broken in spirit by the constant hounding of the police, both die. John, who has heard through underground channels of the deaths, returns to his homeland to find out what is delaying his wife, and is arrested. Magda, unaware of this but knowing he plans to come back, commits suicide in a vain effort to prevent his return and thus save his life.

Twice-Wed Man 'Up In Air' For Third Marriage

Exclusive to The Bulletin

EAST HARTFORD, Conn., March 25.—(BUP)—Bertha and Franco Calka honeymooned on earth today after soaring through an airborne marriage ceremony 2,000 feet up.

Their marriage was performed yesterday in the cramped quarters of a five-passenger chartered airplane.

The Rev. Dudley H. Burr almost missed their "I dos" in the roar of the plane's twin-engines.

Mrs. Calka, 41-year-old auburn-haired divorcee, said she told her husband she wanted a "plain" wedding when he proposed recently while sitting near the providence (R.I.) airport.

She said Calka, 44, a twice-wed construction worker, thought "I meant a plane wedding."

West Ready to Give Case for Crow's Nest

OTTAWA, March 25.—(CP)—The prairie provinces' counter-offensive against the Canadian Pacific Railway's attack on their favorable grain freight rates will be launched Monday before the Royal Commission on Transportation.

The commission decided late yesterday to switch back next week to one of the most controversial issues before it, breaking off temporarily from consideration of the Canadian National Railways' $1,000,000,000 capital reorganization scheme.

TAMPERING "RUINOUS"

The CPR, seeking repeal of the 1925 federal statute which holds down freight rates on grain movements in the west, completed its case earlier this month. It contends it loses several million dollars a year on the special "Crow's Nest Pass" rates and that the western producer gets little of the saving anyway.

Main onslaught against this argument will be delivered jointly Monday by the governments of the prairie provinces, who have presented a single brief to the commission urging that any tampering with the statutory rates would be "ruinous" to the west's grain economy.

Their brief will be bolstered by testimony from Dr. George Hedley, economist of the University of Saskatchewan. Hu Harries, Alberta government economic adviser on transportation, and Robert Macfarlane, economic adviser to the Manitoba government.

WEST WITNESSES ARRIVE

The temporary move from the CNR's case to the western battle front was decided because a battery of witnesses from the west arrived during the week in anticipation of the CNR evidence being concluded yesterday.

To enable them to go ahead, the commission deferred the remainder of the testimony of S. W. Fairweather, CNR vice-president in charge of research and development. Mr. Fairweather went on the stand yesterday morning, and for the rest of the day was engaged in giving historical background involved in the company's reorganization scheme presented to the commission a week ago.

This plan calls for the revision of some securities and other measures to improve the government-owned company's position by more than $30,000,000 a year.

Age Pension At 65 Asked In Commons

OTTAWA, March 25. — (CP) — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, challenged the government last night to make good promises and initiate action to start an old-age pensions scheme without the means test at 65.

As far back as 1945, at a dominion-provincial conference, the government had made proposals to inaugurate a contributory old-age pensions scheme.

Since then, the government had stated it was prepared to enter another dominion-provincial conference to reach agreement on legislation which would embrace such proposals.

STUDY COMMITTEE

Instead, the government was proceeding with a plan to establish a parliamentary committee to study old-age pensions schemes. In other words, said Mr. Drew, it was going to find out, at this stage, just what the government should do to help Canada's aged.

Mr. Drew said the government has stated the reason it did not proceed with its proposals was because it did not achieve agreement with the provinces five years ago.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Drew added, the provinces did not oppose those social security measures which the government proposed.

Why The Catholic Church Says "INVESTIGATE!"

Probably not more than a handful of people hate the Catholic Church as it really is.

But many have heard anti-Catholic calumnies from sources they have been taught to respect, and have come to fear and suspect the Church as it has been falsely represented to them.

It is hardly reasonable to believe that hundreds of millions of people would remain in the Catholic Church if the rumors circulated against the Church are true. Nor would thousands of others become Catholics every year if they believed such things — without inquiring into the facts.

That is why the Catholic Church says again and again to people everywhere: "Investigate! Investigate!"

The Church makes this appeal not merely to settle an argument, nor primarily to win the good-will of the non-Catholic people, although this is a hoped-for result.

Its more important aim is to enlist people to immerse into their hearts as taught and preserved in the Catholic Church down through the centuries. For no man seeking the salvation of his own soul can conscientiously discount the Church as "said to be Christ's foundation" on the basis of mere rumor and slander when the truth is so readily at hand.

The Catholic Church therefore invites you to inquire into its teaching and practices . . . to find out for yourself if what you believe about the Church is true or false.

Learn for yourself, for instance, if it is true that Catholics give divine worship to Mary, the Mother of Christ . . . or if this is not just another calumny. If you have been led to believe that Catholics worship idols and statues . . . buy and sell the divine worship of the Mass . . . are opposed to the religious freedom granted all religions by our national laws, then you have been deceived and misled.

If you have harbored these or any other false beliefs about the Catholic Church and its teachings . . . and if, above all, such misunderstanding has kept you from examining the Catholic claim to be the Church established by Christ Himself . . . you owe it to yourself in good conscience to seek the truth.

FREE—We shall be glad to send you free on request, a booklet dealing with the points mentioned here and many others . . . including the attitude of the Church toward Birth Control . . . secret societies . . . the salvation of non-Catholics . . . why Catholic priests are called "Father" . . . the Inquisition and the alleged goings-on behind convent walls. Write today . . . ask for your copy of Pamphlet No. 7—KC.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

KINDNESS

Tolstoy, the great Russian novelist, was once stopped on the street by a passing beggar. It was a time of widespread famine. Moved to pity, Tolstoy searched his pockets only to find he had not even a solitary coin to offer. With deep regret he told the beggar: "Forgive me, my brother, I have nothing with me."

Rather than showing disappointment, the beggar's face was lighted by a grateful smile. "But you called me brother—that is a great gift," he replied.

Kindness and sympathy are indeed great gifts. The coin tossed into a mendicant's cup may be paltry enough but it tinkles with the sound of purest gold when offered in true brotherliness.

Brotherliness is another name for love or kindness—that spirit of mind and heart that can impart a kingly grace to the simplest action. A loaf of bread will ease the hunger of a starving family, but the smile that accompanies it can transform the misery of burdened hearts into new hope. Medicine can ease the pains of the sick, but the visit of a sympathetic friend may do far more to speed the sufferer on the road to recovery.

Every human being (especially in the hours of trial and suffering, needs the assurance of being loved. To experience a sudden kindness in dark moments is, as one writer put it, like feeling God's finger on one's shoulder. No one is ever wholly overcome by trouble or grief so long as there is someone to offer a smile of reassurance or speak a word of sympathy. A mere gesture of neighborliness may seem a negligible thing, but we should reflect how brightly and hopefully the light of a single candle shines in the darkest space.

The virtue of kindness enriches both the souls of those who practice it and those who experience it.

"We may scatter the seeds of courtesy and kindness around us at so little expense," a famous moralist wrote. "Some of them will inevitably fall on good ground, and grow up into benevolence in the minds of others; and all of them will bear fruit of happiness in the bosom whence they spring."

Lenten Series Continue At All Saints Church

Rev. H. G. Watts, B.A., D.D., western field secretary of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada, will be sixth speaker in the noon-day Lenten series at All Saints Cathedral, 103 street.

Dr. Watts will conduct the Lenten services Monday through Friday, from 12:15 p.m. to 12:40 p.m. In addition he will speak Sunday at St. Luke's Church, 8811 88 avenue, at 11:00 a.m., and at St. Peter's Church, 11637-127 street, at the 7:30 p.m. service.

Dr. Watts, well known in Edmonton, has had a distinguished career in the Canadian church. He visited here some years ago as a member of the University Christian Mission to the University of Alberta.

DEACON IN 1926

A graduate of the University of Saskatchewan and of Emmanuel College at Saskatoon, Dr. Watts was made deacon in 1926. Ordained priest a year later.

He served from 1926 until 1933 in the missionary diocese of Mid-Japan where he first was in charge of several mission stations and later was diocesan treasurer.

Since 1941 he has been field secretary for the church's missionary society in Canada.

Young People Plan Entertainment

The Young People's Society of Metropolitan Church is planning an evening of good entertainment for young and old on Tuesday evening, March 28th, in the Assembly Hall.

There will be a miscellaneous program and the Young People will present their one-act play "Back to the Kitchen, Women."

BLIND MAN IS NAMED AS CANDIDATE

MONTGOMERY, Ala.

A blind minister from Mobile, Ala., has qualified to become a candidate for governor of the state in the May 2 Democratic primaries.

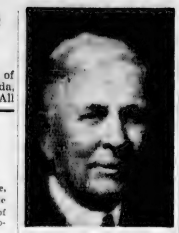
He is the Rev. W. Reese Farnell, Jr., an ordained Baptist preacher since 1945. After qualifying in Mobile, he came here to "get the feel" of the State Capital.

Mr. Farnell said he decided to run for governor because he "felt within himself that the Lord was speaking to him to run for the office." He said he had felt the call for 12 years and now believed it imperative that he obey.

Vatican Envoy Opposed Here

TORONTO.—A resolution opposing the appointment of a Canadian envoy to the Vatican was adopted by the Board of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church of Canada at its annual meeting here.

The resolution declared that the sending of a Canadian representative to the Vatican would be official recognition of one branch of the Christian Church and thereby constitute political discrimination in favor of that Church, provoke serious religious dissension in Canada and be a cause of national disunity.



VETERAN MEMBER of Central Church of Christ, J. B. Thompson, will receive special mention at C C of C's 37th anniversary ceremony Sunday.

City Man To Get Mention

J. B. Thompson, prominent city businessman and, at 86, the only resident charter member of the Central Church of Christ, will be praised Sunday at the church's 37th anniversary ceremony.

Discussed at the gathering will be the achievements of the CC of C since its establishment here.

Tentative plans for a third church in Strathcona Place will also be dealt with. Church officials said the new building will probably be erected this year.

Details will be unavailable until the arrival in April of a high United States official of the church.

7-Day Fast Scheduled

About 50 pacifists are expected to take part in a "seven-day fast for peace," which will be staged in Washington, D. C., from midnight April 1 to Easter morning, April 9. It was announced here.

A call to the fast was issued by the Rev. A. J. Muste, national secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation; Dorothy Day, leader of the Catholic Worker group here; Bayard Rustin, secretary of the Peacemakers Fast Committee; and others.

Those engaging in the fast will distribute leaflets, send deputations to the White House, the Soviet embassy and leading churches, and will hold nightly meetings to urge the renunciation of war, laying down of arms, and the adoption of "nonviolent methods of resolving conflicts."

Christian Science

"Have not I commanded thee? Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed: for the Lord thy God is with thee withersoever thou goest." (Joshua 1:9). "There is too much animal courage in society and not sufficient moral courage. Christians must take up arms against error at home and abroad... If they keep the faith, they will have the crown of rejoicing." (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, pp. 28, 29). Readings like these make up the Sunday Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches and deal with the subject, "Reality."

VATICAN ENVOY RULED OUT

OTTAWA—Indications are that the Canadian government will not—at least for the present—appoint an ambassador to the Vatican.

A deputation from the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor interviewed Prime Minister L. S. St. Laurent, and urged the appointment of an envoy. The prime minister replied that such an appointment would give the Roman Catholic church a special status in Canada not possessed by any other branches of the Christian community.

Religious Revival Seen For Canada

TORONTO—Some religious leaders here are talking of a "definite religious revival" which they think will soon spread to all parts of Canada.

Dr. Charlie Taylor, who with his brother has been conducting a two-week revival campaign here under Baptist sponsorship, said he saw signs of a "deeper interest in religion than has been manifested for 25 years."

The Rev. J. C. Clough of the Anglican Church of the Good Shepherd, former army chaplain, said people are now meeting "in small cells," in the pattern of the Communists, and are praying, studying the Bible and discussing methods for making the Gospel relevant to today's needs.

Civil Weddings May Get Ontario Legal Approval

Civil marriages performed by judges and magistrates would be authorized for the first time in Ontario under the terms of a proposed amendment to provincial law.

The amendment would also authorize clergymen affiliated with small sects to perform marriage ceremonies. At present, only ministers of large, recognized denominations have the right.

Ministers would be prohibited from marrying anyone who is mentally ill or intoxicated under penalty of one year in jail and a fine of $500.

The definition of a church would be enlarged from that of a chapel or meeting house to a place set aside for religious worship."

HELSINKI.—Persuaded by the prophecies of an 18-year-old girl who preaches in her sleep that the end of the world is imminent, a number of persons in and near the town of Jyvaskiyla have sold or given away their possessions, quit their jobs and settled down to await the end.

Clergymen of the State Lutheran Church insist that the number of people convinced by Salli Saiokangas, the preacher, is small and have declared the girl is suffering from mental illness. They recalled that when she visited a Bible institute in Grankulla a year ago an effort was made to remove her "religious hysteria."

MANY LISTENERS

Nevertheless, when Salli visited the little community of Nyrola, near Jyvaskiyla, just before Christmas, up to 500 people from near and far came by car, boat, skis or on foot to hear her preach at meetings in the local school house.

Before each meeting, the girl went to bed about eight o'clock in the evening and when she had fallen asleep was carried, bed and all, into the school house. After hymns had been sung, the girl reportedly began to speak in her sleep announcing that the end of the world was near, and it was "time to get ready."

Some local residents have been stirred by Salli's warnings to the point of selling their possessions and giving up their jobs. But others have declared that her prophecies called for the end of the world at midnight sometime between Christmas and New Year's Day, and the time for fulfillment has now gone by.

Among those who took Salli's prophecies seriously was a 25-year-old teacher, Tapio Nykanen, who gave away all he owned, resigned his position, and then moved to southern Finland to await the end of the world. He has since written to one of his former students that he is starving and has trouble keeping a roof over his head while he awaits "the end."

Prayer for 'True Brotherhood' is Heard in Senate

WASHINGTON, D.C.—A prayer for "true brotherhood" among the English-speaking peoples of the world was heard in the United States Senate.

It was given by Dr. Douglas Frazer Hurst, pastor of Elmwood Presbyterian church, Belfast, Ireland, who delivered the prayer in place of Dr. Frederick Brown Harris, Senate Chaplain, who was on vacation.

He asked that "with our common heritage of liberty and faith, may the things which unite us be always greater and stronger than the things which divide."

"As we are one in our belief in free institutions, in government of the people, for the people, may we walk together in mutual trust and confidence on the great highway of freedom and service," he said.

U.S. Diplomats Are Finished

WASHINGTON, March 25—(AP)—The United States has ended the assignments of three military officers attached to the U.S. legation in Hungary because the Hungarian Communist government said they had to be removed. At the same time the state department notified Budapest that it flatly rejected charges that the three were involved in spying against Hungary.

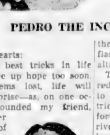
FULTON OURSLER'S Modern Parables

PEDRO THE INCORRIGIBLE



Fulton Oursler

Dear Friends
and Gentle Hearts:

One of the best tricks in life is never to give up hope too soon. When all seems lost, life will sometimes surprise—as, on one occasion, it astounded my friend, the late Father Flanagan of Boys' Town.

"So often, my dear," Father Flanagan used to say, "there is a belated reaction," and then he would tell the story of the smoking boy.

Pedro was a miniature Mexican lad, whose parents had died in Corpus Christi, Texas. One day the tiny orphan arrived at Boys' Town. He was ten years old, smart enough in his way, and likeable, but he learned to smoke and nobody in Boys' Town seemed able to stop him. Scores of times Pedro promised Father Flanagan he would never, never smoke again, and went right on fuming and inhaling.

"Pedro, dear, why don't you stop all this smoking?" Father Flanagan pleaded one day, tears were in his eyes. "What's the matter with you?"

"Well, you see, Fadder, I been smoking ever since I was four years old. It's too late to stop now."

It seemed impossible to safeguard the child, because the constant stream of visitors to Boys Town tossed away half-smoked cigarettes by hundreds and thousands. So Father Flanagan took a different tack: he would make it impossible for Pedro to get a light.

That very day, matches were officially declared to be contraband in Boys Town. Those elders who were allowed to indulge would have to get themselves lighters. By nightfall there wouldn't be a match left in the whole one thousand acres. Even in the kitchen, fires were being ignited with pocket lighters.

Yet with the rule sternly in force, Pedro was promptly caught again smoking a cigarette!

"I never like to spy on anybody," Father Flanagan told me, "but I did think it was necessary to tiptoe behind that young man."

Soon enough the outraged Flanagan found out. Pedro was going into the chapel, as if to pray, and there he lit his cigarette at the flame of votive candles before the altar.

This horrifying discovery nearly reduced the kind-hearted old priest to despair. What he would have tried next heaven only knows, but fortunately an aunt of Pedro's arrived to take the boy home with her. No more of Pedro was heard in Boys Town.

But as years went by, and the war swept the world, Father Flanagan was sent on a mission to the South Pacific, and arrived one day on a battleship at the island of Truk. The wireless flashed out word to all the men on sea and shore that Father Flanagan of Boys Town was in port. It was then discovered that 15 former Boys Towners were stationed on the island—sailors, soldiers and marines—all graduates of Father Flanagan's care, and all serving their country.

At once a reunion dinner was organized, whereupon Father Flanagan, seated at the head of the table, noticed one vacant chair. Presently the door opened and in walked the tardy guest—the smallest sailor that Father Flanagan had ever seen. He couldn't be mistaken—the little tar was Pedro. With a cry of delight the priest grabbed his hand.

"Pedro," he said, "I feel full of grace! Just at the sight of you. Will you have a cigarette, dear?"

Pedro looked up into the twinkling eyes and said:

"No thanks, Fadder. I ain't had a smoke since I left Boys Town."

"And that is the way things go sometimes," chuckled Father Flanagan. "You do the best you can and quite often the stranger, finest things happen."

Small 'Saucer' In Ontario

KENORA, Ont., March 25—(CP)—Mrs. Georg Mordell of Keewatin said she saw a "fiery torpedo-shaped rocket" flashing across the sky on Wednesday night, 11 p.m. ET.

The object, which appeared about 7.45 p.m., was two to three feet long, and flying low. It disappeared to the northwest.

Earlier a Fort Frances couple said they had seen a "strange object with a large tail" at about 8 p.m. the same evening. They, too, said it was travelling north-west. Keewatin is roughly due west of here.

The Fort Frances couple, Mr. and Mrs. John Thomson, said they "hesitated to mention it" at the time, and had been waiting for someone else to report it.

Both witnesses said the "thing" was a few feet long and flying low.

Another Federal Employe Group

J. Price was appointed organizer Thursday for a new body to be known as Edmonton District Civil Servants' Association.

The new association will include civil servants in small departmental offices not presently organized by Edmonton District Council of the Civil Service Federation of Canada.

A public relations committee was formed with President Joseph Fairley as chairman. W. R. McLaren and S. Follis are members.

D. Cavanagh reported arrangements for the annual bowling tournament in May.

Annual meeting of the district council will be held April 27.

Japanese Arms To Red Chinese

By ARTHUR M. GOUL
Exclusive to The Bulletin

TAIPEI, Formosa, March 25—(HUP)—Premier Chen Cheng said today that it was "entirely possible" that Russia will give captured German and Czech war equipment to the Chinese Communists for use in an invasion of Formosa.

However, he doubts if the Russians will give the Communists planes, ships and other modern weapons of their own.

He said there is no question but that they had given captured Japanese army equipment to the Communists.

TEXAS BILL WOULD TAX DIVORCE CASES

AUSTIN, Tex.—A $25 tax would be levied on anyone instituting a divorce action in Texas, under the terms of a measure introduced in the special session of the legislature here.

"If a man wants to wreck a home, then he should be assessed a wrecker's tax," said Rep. J. F. Gray of Three Rivers, who proposed the bill.

It was estimated that such a law would raise $1,375,000 annually since an average of 55,000 divorce suits are filed every year. The revenue would be divided between juvenile correctional institutions and state orphan homes.

Democratic Capitalism Claimed on the Way

SYRACUSE, N.Y.—"We are now rapidly moving in the direction of democratic capitalism which is largely accepted by Protestants as being the most Christian economic position possible in this age," according to the Rev. Marshall L. Scott, dean of the Presbyterian Institute of Industrial Relations, New York City.

Dean Scott's address was the second in a series of three talks in a forum on "Christian Economics" at one of the three major religious faiths.

He warned against laissez-faire capitalism as being contrary to the Protestant position on social justice in an industrial society.

INITIATIVE NEEDED

Dean Scott said emphasis must be placed on the principle that "the earth is the Lord's" and also on democracy in industry to allow all persons involved to participate in decisions and choices over employment issues.

Warning that management and labor could not hang back from taking the initiative in advancing social welfare and democratic procedures, he said "if they seem to be going too slowly, then the pressure of social unrest will drive us straight toward socialism."

"In the more complicated industrial society of today," he said, "there is slowly but steadily emerging an understanding that social justice, even of a somewhat radical nature, is inherent in the Christian faith."

Within the last century, the Church has placed itself on the side of increased justice for industrial workers, for equality of races, particularly the Negro, and in opposition to militarism and war, Dean Scott said.

"Industry has not arisen as a democratic instrument in this country," he added.

With industrial expansion there came a recognition that as mass conscience could not accept many of the abuses of industrialism, he asserted, expressing the belief that a new movement in the direction of democracy has been stimulated by organized American labor.

EIRE ASKS FLAG CROSS

DUBLIN, March 4—Many local corporations and councils throughout Ireland have approved a resolution calling upon the government to have a cross put on the national flag to mark the Holy Year.

The resolution said the cross would show "that Ireland is a Christian country when so many nations are declaring themselves Communistic."

Race Riots Shock Church Workers

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa—Religious workers among Johannesburg's Negro population have been shocked by a new wave of rioting which broke out in native townships near the city.

This attitude causes a burning resentment among the non-whites.

A police sergeant was bludgeoned to death, five Asiatics were burned to the ground and a large number of people injured in the riots.

Missionaries among the natives say there has been a dangerous deterioration in race relations in the areas where the rioting flared up.

MORE HOOLIGANISM

Much of the deterioration, according to the Rev. H. Ewing of St. Alban's Colored Mission, which covers the whole western side of Johannesburg, is due to an increase in hooliganism on the part of young men who appear breaking point today, because 18 months.

"It is a regular thing nowadays for non-white, colored and native constables, to be insulted and assaulted by young men who appear clearly to resent the presence of when the police make an arrest non-whites at all," he said. "They are usually surrounded by an object of their attacks on natives and seems to be based on nothing more than the fact that these people are not white.

The younger Negro people, impatient of the wise counsel of their elders, have reached the stage where they demand immediate retaliation. Frustration is relieved by action."

The Rev. A. G. Slidebotham, priest-in-charge at Sophiatown, one of the more Negro residential districts, said on behalf of the entire Anglican mission staff: "We call on responsible and law-abiding people from police officials was generous.

"But the fact remains that the people as a whole mistrust the police," he said. "It is because they of young men who appear breaking are administering an unpopular law, and if it sometimes accompanied by harsh treatment. Relationships between constables and non-whites are almost at

New Cleanser Developed For Resilient Flooring

Canadian manufacturer claims first cleanser specially developed for rubber tile and other resilient floor coverings. Non-injurious to rubber, eliminates scrubbing, floor traffic resumed immediately, claims maker.

Industries facing corrosion problems are using Monel fastenings such as nails, with annular grooves to give the holding power of screws, and standard nuts, bolts and screws.

New precision power plane for small builders, homecraftsmen has detachable motor; shapes edges, cuts contours, carves irregular surfaces, makes fancy professional cuts. Three tools in one: levelling plane, shaper-jointer used with shaper bench stand, portable moulding plane, says U.S. maker.

Combination robot garden spade, rake, hoe and electric drill cuts horticulture drudgery, says English maker. Two parallel revolving rods press into earth, break soil; electric powered.

An interesting innovation to protect crops, fruit trees and plants against sudden cold snaps is the new "Frostguard," a generator of infra-red rays. This unique device will undoubtedly save many crops from unseasonable conditions. It consists of a kerosene-burning combustion chamber made of nickel-chronium cast iron which, when ignited, casts protective rays over a large area.

In place of the old wooden tub, washboard and wringer, today's washing machine and the commercial laundry have come to the assistance of the modern housewife. Monel, an alloy of 2/3 nickel and 1/3 copper, is now in general use for washing machine tubs, and for washers and other equipment in modern laundries. Being rust-proof and corrosion-resistant, it eliminates trouble from stains and verdigris. Its hard smooth surface removes all danger of injury even to the most delicate fabrics. Because it is as strong and tough as steel Monel equipment is unusually durable.

Plugs in light socket, low-cost home arc welder also charges standard 6-volt lead acid auto batteries. "Linewelder 60" on circuit fused for 30 amp. keeps battery charged through winter, raises discharged unit to engine starting strength in 10 hours, claims U.S. maker.

The pot cleaner, Silvylocks, made of knitted Monel mesh which does not rust or splinter, is as much at home in the garage as in the kitchen. This household item has been found to work as well on a muddy tire as on a kitchen utensil.

NEW BROOM DOES USUAL

Sweeping with dampened cloth fitted over special broomhead is claimed by U.S. makers to reduce wear and tear on floors cut labor costs and pick up fine grit and soot.

Brush element holds cloth against floor. Universal joint-type attachment on five-ft. handle permits handle to be rotated to any angle while brush remains stationary on floor, making sweeping of confined areas and corners easier, say makers.

The total area of the Arctic Sea is about 5,500,000 square miles, of which 2,300,000 square miles are probably covered with floating ice.

Waste Bark Makes Wax

Douglas-fir bark, at present a waste product that piles up around lumber mills, may soon be converted into high test wax which will make this country independent of foreign supplies.

Developed at the Oregon State College, an extraction process produces 54 pounds of wax from the bark of 1,000 board feet of logs.

At 40 cents a pound for best-quality wax, this would mean the waste bark would be worth $20, enough to make the lumber operators anxious to perfect the process for commercial application.

At present, the scientists are working out methods to reduce the cost and complexity of the process.

Another by-product of the extraction process is tannin, an important item that is used by the leather-tanning industry.

In 1794, 40,000 people were buried alive by an earthquake in Ecuador.

"Geiger Guns": Latest use of canning to protect sensitive mechanical and technical devices from damage and deterioration is in case of Geiger counter tubes (used to detect radioactivity) being "canned" in hermetically sealed metal containers. The "Geiger cans" are produced by a New York can company.

Smoking In Bed Danger Removed By Invention

An amateur inventor has come up with that long-sought safety method of smoking in bed.

He is Walter Mullins of Los Angeles, who fretted through his career as a Navy officer about the cigarette ashes which dropped on his blue uniforms. So he tinkered with a [illegible] smoking device combining a ceramic replica of a pelican, a long rubber tube and cigarette holder mouthpiece.

Thus emerged the Pelican Safety Smoker, a handy gadget he's patented. The pelican figurine is so designed that the cigarette burns in an almost horizontal position suspended over the yawning lower bill of the familiar bird, which makes an ideal ash tray. The 7½-inch figurine stands on the floor, table, bedside stand, coffee table, or anywhere in reach.

GIVES COOLER SMOKE

High test surgical rubber tubing, with an inside diameter about the size of a match, carries the smoke 40 inches to the mouth of the [illegible] the nicotine filtered out.

The cigarette won't go out and [illegible] fireproof [illegible] down to the end.

Mullins got the idea on his Navy travels after watching Arabian and Oriental water pipes in operation, which use the long tubes. He [illegible] the California Arts ceramics concern near his home [illegible] experiment with a figurine and the miniature pelican emerged in many different colors and not in like an expensive high glaze ceramics piece in any living room.

SOLVED PROBLEM

Mullins figures he has solved the problem of smoking in bed while reading or resting on overstuffed furniture, the most frequent instances of fires starting from smoking. Already his invention has been featured on television and he and his associate, Elmer Atwood, are getting the knack of assembling the parts in the Mullins home workshop.

And if there was any doubt about their making a hit with the menfolks, housewives tired of sweeping up ashes, finding burned places on their furniture and ash holes in clothing should welcome this new-fangled contraption.

United Labor Front Urged For Painters

Mr. Phinnemore told the 46th annual convention of the Canadian Association of Painting and Decorating Contractors that uniformity in wage rates is essential for future harmony in labor-management relations.

Closer liaison between painting contractor groups before wage negotiations had begun rather than during or after was suggested.

Independent wage rate negotiations going on simultaneously in a number of centres have frequently led to many different rates being established for centres of equal size.

This has brought about new wage demands that have had an inflationary effect on the trade generally.

Mr. Ralph was re-elected for a second term as president. Other officers elected were:

Vice-presidents — Ted Gaymer London; Bernard Campbel, Hamilton; Sheldon Delaney, Niagara Falls. Secretary, Roy M. Lethbridge, Toronto. Treasurer, Theo Rothermel, Toronto. Auditors, Harry C. Swaffield, Kitchener; Armour Weekes, Toronto.

KEEP TRACK OF HUBBY WITH ATOM

Chalk up another victory for atomic energy. A product of the atomic pile, secreted in a man's pocket, could make a record of the exact time he returned to his home at night.

It has not yet been used for this purpose, but it has been used in homing experiments with wild birds, says Prof. Donald R. Griffin of Cornell.

Wild birds were "tagged" with a small and harmless amount of a radio-active material which was placed in an aluminum capsule attached to the ordinary bird band. A recording instrument near the nest of a bird was activated by the radiation from the material whenever the bird returned to his home.

Picture Hanging Gets Stuck-up

Women were asking why someone hadn't thought of this before: a picture hanger that's attached to the wall by an adhesive-backed cloth, makes no holes in wall, is removable and holds up to 20 pounds. This is the dime-store discovery of the week in most states west of the Mississippi, soon it will be in stores coast to coast.

New Heating Mode

Radiant heat by electric panels is to be introduced in Canada says U.S. firm. Method, developed in Britain, uses portable screen panel in decorative design for supplementary heating of living room, bathrooms, porches, cottages, garages, etc.

Sock It On

When you put paste wax on, use a heavy sock as an applicator. Fill the sock with wax and rub over floor lightly. Little more than the weight of your hand is necessary to press the right amount of wax through the sock for a smooth job.

Good Lot Is Important Before Selecting House

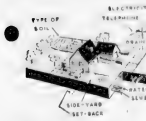
Investigate the lot to see if it is in its original state or has been "filled in." If the latter is the case, added precautions should be taken to prevent the foundation of the house from sinking.

Avoid swamp-like land which might flood. Make sure that the lot is properly graded. You will not want water running into the basement of your home.

For this reason, a lot sloping gently down to the street is preferable to one which is level.

LARGE ENOUGH

The lot should be large enough for the house and garage. It should also be able to accommodate gardening and clothes drying facilities. A pleasant view and a space for recreation make the house more attractive.



The lots in the block should be wide enough to allow sunlight and air between the houses and provide for privacy. Check on local lot restrictions or covenants.

There should be some regulation on the distance your house is set back from the street and from the lot lines.

ESSENTIAL MATTER

The shape of the lot is an essential matter. Visualize your house built on it. If you are building a furnishing ranch-style house, a long, narrow lot would not be suitable.

Look at the condition of the soil. Is it suitable for seeding or sodding a lawn? Will it provide easy excavation for the basement? Can you use the excavated material for grading purposes? Are there trees on the lot for adequate shade?

The ground around your home deserves the same intelligent planning which your house receives.

This is the third in a series of articles written in the interest of readers who are contemplating building or buying a house.)

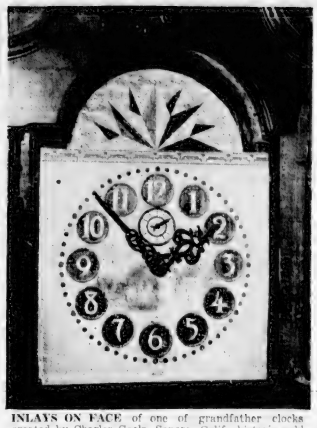
'Sunlight In Bottles' To Solve Worries

"Bottled sunlight" for home lighting, kitchen ranges that can't burn beans, and the decline of that typically American social phenomenon, the business convention, are advanced as likely results of scientific progress in the last half of the 20th century.

The "bottled sunlight" that may soon illuminate the homes of the future would come from highly efficient phosphor powders mixed into building material or into paint or wallpaper. These phosphors would slowly emit at night the light energy they had absorbed during the day.

The possible end of the traditional business convention is seen as a result of the development of telephonic television which would provide "face-to-face" contact between businessmen even over long distance, thereby eliminating the need to meet in person.

Westinghouse authorities also foresee the following changes in the American scene over the next 50 years: Automatic indoor climate control; Atomic power plants to supplement or supplant present coal, water and oil-energy sources; Annual kilowatt-hour sales of power "several fold" above present figure levels; Electric motors for home equipment and appliances and for industry that will be burn-proof and will have an indefinite life.



INLAYS ON FACE of one of grandfather clocks created by Charles Goelz, Sonora, Calif., historic gold rush town, are executed with skill and precision. Face plate is of Oregon myrtle wood, the hands of manzanita. Figures are white holly wood and background for figures of amaranth, imported from British Guiana.

Advice Says Get Color Conscious This Spring

Consider an applegreen picket fence this summer. Massed against it, Monte Cristo tulips in brilliant orange will give a new zest to the garden. Also a fence in this shade of green tends to highlight low shrubs whose leaves may be deep green.

If you've been wondering what to do about that entrance hall that seems to lack life, here's a suggestion. Paint the walls gunmetal grey . . . the floor may also be carried out in this shade either in wall-to-wall broadloom, or in battleship linoleum. This latter has the added advantage of being easy to keep clean. Accent colors can be white, coral pink and deep rose. Simple tailored curtains for the existing deep casement window drapes. Vanity base a bedroom two-tone in contrast to gunmetal walls.

* * *

Winter is the time to check your color schemes. Be ready for spring painting. If a room with a north light has seemed cold during the winter plan to redecorate. You can use a warm orange on the walls and a rich cocoa brown on the floors. Drapes in a matching brown, sofa and one chair in deep brown linen. Occasional chair in citrus yellow. If light is good, consider doing the ceiling in the orange ing rooms, halls and a bedroom or so in the same shade, home owners will use bright colors and novelty material combinations to brighten up a single room."

New Furniture Designs Offered At Low Cost

By Elizabeth Toomey
Special to The Bulletin

NEW YORK, March 11.—(UP)—Three young men strung together birch dowels, held them with a rope and set them into a grooved gumwood frame and came up with a prize-winning coffee table.

William Kalavidas, Douglas F. Kelley, Russ F. Littell are the designers. They won one of the first prizes handed out by the American Institute of Decorators in the annual home furnishings design competition.

The low coffee table, which won first prize in the furniture classification, has tubular steel legs and handles. The top is of slim birch dowels held together by rope. Best of all, the table will sell for about $17.

GROUP EFFORT

The three designers are members of a group working to produce "economy, well-designed modern furniture. Every and [illegible] designers themselves . . . [illegible] group in a school at [illegible]

"It took so many hours for me, my wife and my mother-in-law," Lawrence explained, "after work, to build [illegible] We [illegible]

"Then came [illegible] the production of the [illegible] district design.

A tubular-steel chair designed by the same three young men won honorable mention from the AID. The chair, which will sell for $40, is made of tubular steel, with a seat and back cover that slips easily on and off.

DESIGNING HONORS

Geraldine Funk, a young weaver from Puerto Rico, walked off with most of the AID designs. It took its woven fabrics and [illegible] cotton rugs. She used everything from banana bark to metallic yarn to give her design texture and native charm.

A washable hand-woven window shade, made from rope, palm, metallic yarn and green yarn, won first prize in the fabric division. She also makes a window shade of coconut and banana bark combined with colored string and yarn.

Miss Funk's creations are shown as place mats and floor coverings, as well as window shades. Obviously they wouldn't fit into just any living room. But they would be excellent additions to modern [illegible] house decorations.

At present, these handwoven fabrics designed by Miss Funk for the Fiber Textile Shop in Puerto Rico, are too expensive for the average home owner.

CARRIAGE TRADE

"They're for the carriage trade now, but we hope to have them at lower prices later," explained Edward Fields, a floor covering distributor who handles Miss Funk's designs in Manhattan.

If Miss Funk's predictions are correct, colorful and unusual floor coverings are going to be the rule, not the exception, in the future.

"There will be a move away from monotone, all-wool tones," Fields said. "In stead of carpeting liv

Starting Plants From Seed Is Nature's Way

By Henry Pree

When you start plants from seed you are following the method employed by Mother Nature. She has found this to be the easiest and surest way of increasing her favorite flowers, trees and shrubs.

When you propagate flowers you should try to duplicate natural conditions as closely as possible. Mother Nature, for example, arranges for the flowers to drop their seed on soft, moist, shady soil under the parent plant where it is covered and protected by fallen leaves or wind-blown soil.

Again, Mother Nature is liberal with her seeds as she knows that not all will germinate—and so for this reason we gardeners must sow more seeds than the number of plants needed to fill the garden.

LARGE SUNNY WINDOW

However simple these directions may seem, success is possible only if the gardener has a large sunny window in a cool room, a hotbed or two, or best of all, some sort of a greenhouse. Good plants are seldom grown if favorable conditions do not exist.

Now is the time to make plans, order seed and get your materials together. Six to eight weeks before you plan to transplant to the garden is time enough to sow seed.

The soil in which the seed is sown should be a mixture of loam soil, humus and lots of sand. Work on a fairly large and strong table and fill the flats or pots to within three-quarters of an inch of the top, settle the soil by forming with a flat block of wood, and then sell a good half inch of sand over the top of the firmed soil.

STRAIGHT ROWS

The seed, depending upon the variety, is sown in straight rows with the wood block pressed firmly into the soil. A very thin coating of sand will then cover the seed.

After the seeds are sown water until the soil is thoroughly wet, but first cover the soil with a cloth so the water doesn't displace the seed. The soil must be kept moist at all times but never soggy.

TRANSPLANTED

As soon as seedling makes its second leaf, it should be transplanted. Use a percussive pointed stick as plants are too small to handle with the fingers alone.

Transfer each seedling to another flat individually, plant about 1½ inches apart, and gently press each in place.

When these touch each other, in two or three weeks, they are ready for transplanting into pots or into permanent quarters.

Gardening Can Be Made Easy

Q—Why is it that our old grape vines no longer produce a crop? They have never been pruned.

A—Every grape vine needs pruning every year if you expect to get good grapes. The point is to get the vines pruned before they start to grow. In pruning, remember that the grapes are borne on the new shoots which come from the buds on the wood which is a year old. Year-old wood is light brown in color and smooth. On [illegible] the bark is rough. Be sure to leave enough of this year-old wood to get a decent crop of grapes. Plan as you leave about 40 buds on each vine or plant.

NEAT UMBRELLA RACK MADE IN BASEBOARD

A neat-appearing and convenient umbrella rack is had in a jiffy by nailing a length of board to the baseboard of the front hall closet.

The board is handsawed as shown and drilled between the scallops to receive the umbrella tips.

The bottom edge of the rack can be shaped to fit over the shoe mold or the latter can be cut away so the rack fits flush with the flooring.

Stassen Sure Friend Stalin Now a Victim

ANN ARBOR, Mich. March 25 (CUP)—Harold E. Stassen, president of Pennsylvania University, "believes "something has happened" to Russian Prime Josef Stalin.

The Republican party leader and former presidential candidate said last night that Stalin "appeared 10 years older" when he saw him in 1945, than in a recent official photograph of the soviet chief voting in the Russian elections.

"Why became a phony picture needed? Something has happened," Stassen asked. "He would have voted unless there is something wrong around."

Stassen spoke before 4,000 students attending the first big all campus GOP conference on the University of Michigan campus.

Drop Seen In Housing

OTTAWA, March 25—(CP)—A record number of new homes were built in Canada in 1949 to help ease the hungry demand in all parts of the country.

The Bureau of Statistics reported that 90,935 units—houses or apartments — were constructed during the year compared with 81,243 in 1948.

The report said the increase of 9,712 homes was "entirely due to the marked upswing in new construction, which resulted in the completion of 87,533 units compared with 76,092."

During 1949, a start was made on construction of 83,500 new homes, which was fewer than in 1948, when 90,194 starts were made. The carry-over of unfinished dwellings at the end of the year was 38,160 against 50,456 a year before.

"The small increase in this carry-over," the bureau said, "may indicate a leveling-off in the volume of residential construction."

Two Men Die In Truck Blast

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 25—(AP)—A big truck loaded with 20,000 pounds of dynamite caught fire and blew up with blockbuster force 20 miles north of here last night. At least two men were killed, and several other persons injured.

The terrific blast which rattled windows 25 miles away, blew a hole 15 feet deep, 50 feet long and 30 feet wide in the concrete highway.

Brute Force Is New Hit At Rialto Here

Unforgettable story of a group of desperate men who plan escape from the grey prison walls is told in Universal-International's Mark Hellinger production, "Brute Force," which opens Monday at the Rialto.

Starring Burt Lancaster, the film presents a host of famous Hollywood talent including Hume Cronyn, Charles Bickford, Whitmer Bissell, Yvonne De Carlo, Ann Blyth, Ella Raines and Anita Colby.

The powerful melodrama, which starts Monday at the Rialto theatre tells of a restless and embittered convict leader who tries an escape plan despite the million to one odds.

Hume Cronyn, captain of the prison guards, is Lancaster's opponent. He gives a remarkable portrait of a cruel yet ambitious man who regards prisoners as helpless flies.

BIG FINALE

Charles Bickford is also a convict, milder and less discontented than Lancaster, but just as dangerous when the break commences.

The prison break is the finale of a succession of tense action sequences. The prison is set afire with gasoline bottles flung at the guard towers by convicts under the leadership of Bickford. Amid this rioting, Lancaster's group attacks. Lancaster meets Cronyn in the tower in a struggle that ends in death.

"Brute Force" was directed by Jules Dassin and is based on a story by Robert Patterson.

Gauge Found For Nutrition

WASHINGTON, March 25—(AP)—U.S. government scientists have made a discovery which may help stretch out your life span a bit.

They have developed a method for telling whether you are getting enough of the "building blocks" needed to make new tissues and replace old ones in your body.

The development opens the way for gauging the exact nutritional values of such protein foods as meats, milk, eggs, cereals, dry beans and soybeans.

Described by the agriculture department as a "noteworthy" research achievement, the new discovery is a method for measuring the amino acid content of protein foods. Amino acids combine to form protein, and the proteins combine to form living tissues.

Heretofore, there has been no satisfactory way of analyzing the amino acid content of the protein foods.

Ontario had 1,275,000 licensed automobile drivers in 1949, compared with 971,852 in 1945.

U.K. Sea Lord Coming To Canada

London, March 25—(AP)—The Admiralty announced today that Lord Fraser, first sea lord and chief of the Royal Navy Staff, will arrive in the United States April 4 for a five-day official visit. After talks with U.S. defence chiefs and visits to several war colleges, Lord Fraser will fly to Ottawa for an official tour of Canada's defences.

BY FRED MULLEN

Exclusive to The Bulletin

WASHINGTON, March 25 — (BUP)—The FBI's all-out search for the nation's "10 most wanted" criminals is paying off.

Since the agency released the list of top fugitives on Feb. 6 two of the, thugs—William Raymond Nesbit and Orba Elmer Jaskson—have been captured. Both were picked up on tips from persons who had seen their pictures in newspapers.

Inside Hollywood

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—The current revival of the Charleston dance will flourish and fade just as it did in the '20s, says bandman Harry James. But he thinks the jitterbug is here to stay.

Today's parents are amazed to see their children bouncing to the Charleston, which swept the continent in another post-war era.

"Just a temporary craze," remarked trumpeter James. "It won't last any longer than any of the other fads, like the black bottom or the big apple."

Besides, only the oldtimers and the youngsters are doing the dance, he added. "The in-betweens, for whom I play, haven't picked it up," he said.

JITTERBUG FLEXIBLE

James believes that the jitterbug will outlast any other dances.

"The steps are flexible," he explained. "The kids can make up steps to fit the music; you can even jitterbug to a rhumba. But dances like the Charleston have fixed steps and can be done only to certain types of tunes."

James contended that the current craze for Dixieland music will also blow over. The steadiest request will always be the danceable ballad, he said.

"The Dixieland band is familiar to listeners. I believe it had taken hold because it's easy to understand. Modern music with all its intricate harmony is difficult, people get tired of it. They want something simple and understandable."

James and band are currently appearing before the cameras in "I'll Get By." It is the last commitment of a long term contract and Harry has no film plans for the future. He admitted he prefers the ballroom to the film stage.

Young Blood Needed Here MP Reports

LONDON, Ont., March 25—(CP)—"Stay in Canada and help build Canada," John Diefenbaker, one of the top men in the Progressive Conservative party advised the annual banquet of staff members of the University of Western Ontario Publications here last night. The Progressive Conservative MP for Lake Centre, Saskatchewan, told the students Canada needed "young blood" in every phase of public service.

Silkworm Eggs Given Sick Vets To Build Hobby

VICTORIA, March 25—(CP)—The Italian government and the Canadian embassy in Rome have come to the aid of veterans in hospital here attempting to get a new hobby—silkworm culture—under way.

The veterans who planted mulberry trees last year under supervision of several local Cecil Fenech requested silkworm eggs to get their hobby going.

Eggs arrived by the thousands here and are "bedded down" in a hospital refrigerator. They will be spread out on the mulberry bushes as soon as leaves are developed.

Streamlined Service For Washing Shirts

There was a time when a laundry was a flat rock down at the edge of the creek. But a lot of water has flowed over the washing stone since then.

Starting Monday a good few gallons of it will be officially turned into the gleaming metal washer of "Shirt Service Ltd." 10753-Jasper avenue—and three young Edmonton business men will be launched on a new business.

The three, Mickey Dlin, Cecil Podolsky and Manager Harvey Emas, have been holding previews the last few days of their new streamlined shirt servicing equipment.

MOST SHIRTS ARE WHITE

Yesterday Mr. Emas described what happens to a shirt when it is brought into "Shirt Service."

It was a nice, clean-cut action story.

First of all "the shirt" no matter of the time ... is duly numbered, taken to the counter and marked for identification.

From there it goes to pre-spotting where it is checked for stains that might set in hot water.

After that the action speeds up considerably. The shirt joins a bunch of its soiled fellows in the huge washing machine. It doesn't quit rolling until it has been washed and rinsed three times.

$15,000 OF EQUIPMENT

After the water has been extracted at high speed the shirt moves on to the various pressing machines. It was further explained:

First it goes to the sleeve press, then to the collar and cuff presses. By the time the shirt is beginning to realize all the wrinkles have been thought of by the men who designed the $15,000 worth of equipment in the "Shirt Service" shop.

But that isn't all. There's the one press for the wear zone and the finishing and inspection press. Ah, boasts.

The next session is really busy. The shirt, now and human, goes to all women, goes to the finishing table where the finish, expertly pressed, a shirt-tailed fastener, the breast hand put on and the collar support put in.

400 SHIRTS A DAY

Nearing the end of the system the shirt is packed in a cellulene envelope. That about winds up the program—except for the paper bag into which the cellucene package is inserted before being handed to the customer.

He said the firm could handle 400 shirts a day and give seven-hour as well as the regular three-day service.

Then he went back to patting the washing machine.

Export of Canadian Foods Called Sale of Soil Fertility

OTTAWA, March 25.—(CP)—Canadian farmers, who for years have been taking the fertility out of their soil and exporting it abroad, will be putting it back in the year 2,000.

That is the opinion of "Canada's No. 1 farmer," a title often bestowed on Dr. E. S. Archibald, chief of the Dominion Experimental Farms service, who manages 49 farms and 53,550 acres.

FARMING CHANGES LITTLE

Apart from that major change in Canadian agriculture in the next 50 years, he says that farming will be basically the same.

"No matter how much farming is mechanized," Dr. Archibald said in an interview, "it's still going to be risky and it's still going to be hard work."

He's not worried about the hard work part of it, although he believes life on the farm will become more amenable, just as it has during the last 50 years.

"God help our race," he said, "if Canadians forget that hard work is the basis of health as well as prosperity—personal and national."

MUST GUARD FERTILITY

But Canadians will find that the hard work of the next half-century will have to be devoted more and more to a "jealous guarding" of the fertility of the land.

"Soil," says Dr. Archibald, "is nothing but a bank account. If you draw out more from a bank than you deposit, you get into trouble with your banker. If you draw more from the soil than you put back you get into trouble just as surely."

Ever since Canadians began tilling the soil they have been using up its fertility, concentrating their fertilizers on cash crops and Winter feeds. By exporting feed grain and similar crops to Europe, they have simply exported fertility.

MANY FARMS DESERTED

Proof of this apparent Dr. Archibald says, in thousands of deserted farms in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes, now leased as pasture, grown over with weeds.

He foresees development of a program of land use which will support a rural population larger than at present and what he expects will be a greatly-increased overall population.

MORE WEST IRRIGATION

By the year 2000, large areas of the prairies will be covered with a grid of sprinkler systems or other forms of irrigation. The 120,000,000 acres of farm land now in use in the west will be producing at a much greater rate.

By then another 40,000,000 to 60,000,000 acres of land will be added to this figure from central Alberta and British Columbia possibly some central valleys in British Columbia, and in the Mackenzie Basin of the Northwest Territories.

Farmers will turn more to animal husbandry.

Dr. Archibald prefers the term animal husbandry to mixed farming, and hopes that by 2000 AD the latter expression will have dropped out of use.

In general, farming will apply science "as we don't dream of it at present" but the Experimental Farms chief declined to predict new forms of mechanization.

TREND TO FEWER FARMS

There will be a tendency towards fewer farms. This will be counteracted by prairie irrigation and development of uncleared land. Both of which tend to result in small farms.

Improvements in engineering, Dr. Archibald believes, will make possible sprinkler systems of irrigation, more efficient than ditch systems once their costs can be brought down. The sprinkler will mean less danger of "waste-land" and will eliminate the high cost of levelling land necessitated by ditch systems.

Will Canadians of the year 2000 be eating pills instead of steaks?

Synthetic foods are a possibility, but even the pills, Dr. Archibald thinks, will still have to be made from things that grow in the ground, since cellulose would be the main basis for such pills.

Wheat and rice crops in Pakistan cover over 30 million acres.

Defeat Of CCF In Sask. Predicted

HALIFAX, March 25.—(CP)—Premier Angus Macdonald, a Liberal, said yesterday all the evidence "seems to indicate" a defeat for Saskatchewan's CCF government at the next provincial election.

Jacques Cartier made his first voyage to Canada in 1534 and claimed the land in the name of the King of France.

Senators Assail Unfair Plan Of Temporary Jobs

OTTAWA, March 25.—(CP)—The Senate Natural Resources committee yesterday heard criticism of the agriculture department's policy of hiring temporary help on experimental farms at salaries ranging below those granted to permanent employees.

Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader in the Upper Chamber, said on about 50 instances where men were hired as temporary help at 50 or 60 cents an hour and then let go after years of service without benefit of pension. One employe had worked 30 years and was dropped without superannuation.

Dr. E. S. Hopkins, associate director of the department's experimental farm services, said the system is being corrected. A man working with the department more than five years will pay into a superannuation fund even though he may be classified as temporary.

Blame Unfixed

HALIFAX, March 25.—(CP)—A coroner's inquest investigating the deaths of two men in the panic to land sinking of the fishing vessel Gertrude De Costa last Saturday today found no person could be blamed for the crash. Lasses were members of the De Costa when, in the collision with the Lunenburg Island Connector, his were rescued.

Anavets Planning Big Year

Anavets are planning a banner year in fastball and soccer according to word received last night from Stan Chettleborough, president of the Army and Navy sports committee.

Said he: "We feel that this should be our best season since the war because we will have several young players performing for us."

The fastball faction of the Anavets met last night, appointing Joe Solloway as manager and Art Dalmar as coach. Workouts will commence next week.

Soccer is dormant for the moment but manager Al Anderson is expected to call a meeting early next week. It is believed that Steve Olander will once again coach the football eleven.

During the winter Anavets' Henry White was instrumental in organizing the City Dart league. The schedule will continue until mid-May with 18 teams vieing for city honors.

All Sibun is in charge of Anavets' lawn bowling and his big task will be to line up the local team which will enter into provincial play for the Army and Navy Club championship. Lesser sports, like billiards and cribbage have been detailed to Ernie King.

FANNING THE BREEZE with stray right hook is Ted Wiggins, right, bantamweight candidate from Garneau in annual school wrestling and boxing tournament which completed its second evening at Westglen last night. But Jerry Downie of King Edward parried the blow and landed a few of his own to win unanimous decision and bantam title.

GREENE WINS TWICE

Crown School Ring Champs

By Ernie Fedoruk

Twenty-seven Edmonton schoolboys were crowned champions in their respective divisions in the second day of the annual school boxing and wrestling championships at Westglen last night.

Of the 27 winners, only eight were crowned with wins in the ring. The other nineteen became champions because of a lack of competitors.

There were 21 bouts, 13 in the grunt-and-groan department and eight in boxing. A youthful crowd of about 350 took in the show.

A young St. Alphonsus scholar, Allan Greene fought twice last night and won both matches in the junior high school flyweight wrestling division.

Greene opened the evenings' card with Ralph Davis of Spruce Avenue and copped the verdict with a unanimous decision. Entered in the ninth bout, Greene took little time to dispose of Crombie's Billy Meinyk, winning in two straight falls.

A SLUGGING MATCH

The final bout of the night was the slugging match between lightweights Bill Alexandruk and Jerry Burger. Alexandruk, a Victoria high school product, won over the St. Joe student with a split decision.

One of the best wrestling bouts was between Norman Querengesser and Doug Brown in the miniature class of the junior high school division. Brown copped the duke, earning a decision over Querengesser in the fast bout.

'PEG LEADS BOWL-A-CAR TOURNAMENT

WINNIPEG, March 25. — (CP) — Astor Johnstone's brilliant 835 count tonight paced Midway Fur to second spot in the $10,000 Bowl-A-Car five-pin handicap tournament. Raymacs, leaders from the first night's play in the week-long event, still set the pace with 2,335.

Out-of-town contestants failed to make the grade, and all playoff spots are held by Winnipeg trios.

Earl's Court Ties Mercs

LONDON, March 25 — (CP) — Earl's Court Rangers last night held the world champion Edmonton Mercurys to a 3-3 draw, gaining partial revenge for a previous 8-3 drubbing at the hands of the Canadian outfit.

The exhibition contest opened slowly with both teams playing careful hockey but it warmed up as it went along.

Meanwhile, plans are being formulated in Edmonton for a gala welcome for the Mercurys when they arrive back on April 6. Alderman Rupert Clare announced last night that his committee in charge of the homecoming will meet Tuesday to iron out final details.

Included in the program will be a downtown parade with a civic dinner planned shortly after the arrival home. Don Stanley, starry forward, left for home last night and sponsor Jim Christianson is flying back today. Main body of the Mercurys will sail from Liverpool on March 29.

Again yesterday the Tribe brushed up on its pick-off plays, just as they have been doing almost every day since the camp opened.

BAR SLOBODIAN FROM SONS' DRESSING ROOM

MOOSE JAW, Sask., March 25 — (CP) — Coach Pete Slobodian of Lethbridge Native Sons will be barred from his team's dressing room before and during Sons' Western Canada Junior Hockey league game with Regina Pats, Monday.

J. Harper Parry, league secretary-manager, said last night the ban and a $25 fine were slapped on the coach following a protest from Regina about his conduct in the fourth game last Thursday.

Lethbridge defeated Pats, 8-5, and the final series is tied at two games each.

City Drops Games' Bid

City council decided last night to forget about bidding for the 1954 British Empire Games.

It seems questionable to me whether we can accomodate the athletes and the spectators, and there is no sense thinking of it unless we are in a position to fix up the necessary facilities," said Mayor Sid Parsons.

"If you can't fix up the zoo, you certainly don't do that," jibed Aid. Dick Hanna, who Thursday was swamped in a bid to earmark $5,000 for zoo development or move this year.

The mayor added that Montreal seems to have prior right to the 1954 games, having lost out in 1942 because of the war.

Aldermen cut it short by agreeing to make no further move to have the games come here in 1954.

Brandon Retains Manitoba Crown

WINNIPEG, March 25—(CP)—Brandon Wheat Kings last night retained their Manitoba Junior Hockey league championship with a 6-3 win over Winnipeg Monarchs.

Pechet's Charley Horse Causes Stamps' Concern

The referees tonight will be Danny Cox and Ike Morrison.

The Flyers were none too happy over the officiating of these same gentlemen in the third game.

Several of the penalties dished out to the Edmonton squad were looked upon by them as "cheap." They were particularly incensed over one to Colin Kilburn in a second period that saw Stamps count a pair of goals to overcome a 2-0 lead rung up by the visitors in the opening frame.

ALLEGED 'SLASHING'

This season's most-valuable-player award winner was waved away for allegedly "slashing" Stan Devicq. Actually it appeared that Kilburn had been guilty of nothing more than colliding with the Stamp forward, with both going down, as a result.

Then there was the question of a goal scored by Dunc Grant, to knot the count at 2-2. This one was offside a good six feet.

In a tight game a couple of "breaks" like this can swing the result one way or the other. In this particular instance Flyers felt that the Cowtowners had gotten all the better of the officiating.

However even referees are entitled to have a bad night now and then. So the hope is that Messrs. Cox and Morrison will be back on the beam in the fourth game.

Stampeders—at least some of them—held a light skate late yesterday afternoon. "We didn't do much," coach Byron (Butch) McDonald said afterwards. "Just took it easy. In fact, some of the fellows didn't go on the ice, bother at all."

Flyers settled for not even going near Victoria Arena. Most of them spent part of the day sight-seeing in automobiles. Doug Anderson led one group as far as Kananaskis, site of a prison camp during World War two. It's about 40 miles distant from rustic Calgary. The jaunt to Kananaskis might be the tip-off that the boys are looking for a hide-out, just in case.

Elmer Kreller visited with Bob Pentland, a teammate on Edmonton Athletic Club Juniors in the days when E.A.C. had what it took to "get out of town." Pentland, a war casualty, retains a lively interest in sportsmen and all sporting attractions.

CULLEY A CASUALTY

Nearest thing to a casualty in the Flyer camp is fast-skating Don Culley. The winger took a puck on the face in the third game and has suffered some discomfort since. But there's no question of his not being in the line-up.

Victoria Arena manager Lloyd Turner, who doubles in brass as manager of Stampeders, has the ball park brightly polished and ready for use tonight.

In fact, the genial Turner didn't even bother to stash it away after the third game Tuesday. He knows his rickety rink will have another full load for the fourth contest.

Stampeders, naturally, will strive mightily to turn the tide in the gang from the north. If they can stuff another win into the satchel the series will be tied up tighter than the hands of a clock at 12.00 midnight.

On the other hand, Flyers can assume a big two game lead by dealing harshly with the Cowboys. This would make it possible to wind up the series in Edmonton Tuesday, when the fifth game is scheduled.

OUTSTANDING Calgary star in Western Canada Hockey league final, Mitch Pechet grimaces when touching sore foot which has plagued him for some time. He picked up an added bruise in Thursday's battle with Flyers when Pug Young checked him hard to produce a charley horse.

NEW BOWLING ASSOCIATION HOLDS TOURNEY

The new Greater Edmonton Five-Pin Bowling Association will hold its first annual tournament at the Scona Alleys, commencing April 1 and running through to April 5.

Tournament manager Jack Quail announced last night that over 1,000 entries are expected for the event. Altogether there will be seven competitions, including A and B singles, doubles and triples, and a ladies' team event.

Button Wins Skating Title

The Harvard sophomore completely overshadowed the field in the finals of the United States Figure Skating championships to win the men's title for the fifth straight year. He also is World and Olympic champion.

Highland Games At South Side

Edmonton Highland Games Association met last night and formally decided to hold the annual July 1 celebration at South Side Athletic Grounds. Earlier it had been reported that the association was planning to switch the venue of the games to Clarke Stadium. However, a vote of all present last night favored retention of the South Side location.

STRAY PUCKS FROM CALGARY . . .

A Day With Flyers On Allan Cup Trail

(Bulletin Sports Editor)

CALGARY, March 25—Calgary diary. Up bright and early, well, not so bright, maybe. The quick shower, equally rapid shave. Down to breakfast, where fall in with Elmer Kreller. "The Shadow" is packing away a hefty meal. Heck, it isn't his money. He isn't even on an expense account. The sky's the limit. Across the aisle Eddie Cutts, sub-goalie Ralph Hansen and Bill (Humphrey) Pettinger are hard at it. "Handy Andy" Clovechok and Bing Merluk come drifting in. These boys eat big. They need the energy.

"Can I get a policy right now?" someone needles "Handy Andy," the off-season insurance peddler. He makes as though to fish a pen out of his pocket.

Breakfast over with, off to find out how the boys team up when it comes to room-mates. Trainer Doug Hardy runs down the list. Kilburn-Anderson. Lane-Kulley. Merluk-Clovechok. Pringle-Pettinger, Young-Watt, Kreller-Bathgate, Hansen-Cutts, Smilten-Latoski, Frederick-Evans. Run into timer Stan Morgan who operates at the Lindsay's in Edmonton. He's down here in Flyers' interests to keep an eye on the big clock in the centre of Victoria Arena. Not that anyone even thinks there would be anything wrong.

Young, Evans, Lane and Steve Latoski standing around in the lobby just at noon-time. Athletes have a lot of time on their hands. And you can't be in a movie or a pool-hall all the time. Elmer Kreller comes by, on the way to pay a visit to his old pal, Bob Pentland. He never misses when he comes to Calgary, except when Flyers arrive just before game time and leave for home right after.

By mid-afternoon most of the players are somewhere. Nearly all have taken in "12 O'Clock High" since hitting town. But there are other shows. And some are off nights-seeing.

Over you go to "Butch" McDonald's pool hall, with barber shop at one end of it. The Stamp Coach is being worked over with bowl and clippers. But he has time to talk.

It comes that he's a great booster of Kilburn's. Ditto Bill Pettinger. Says Pettinger very good at the puck-out-of-own-end. Thinks this so important. As to whether or not he'll coach Stampeders again next season, he says simply:

"Don't know anything about it. Your best bet is to ask Lloyd (Turner)."

Insiders say the job is McDonald's for the asking.

Back to the hotel to tie on the evening feed-bag. Gordon Watt is holding down the lobby all by his lonesome. "Just takin' it easy," he says with a grin. Later a bull-session with several more members of the fourth-estate, before taking the typewriter out of the case. For the next couple of hours work—and more work. "Hello, operator, the telegraph office, please."

Its getting late now. Flyers in their rooms. Most of them in the sack. This is a big game coming up. At 12:00 midnight a peek into the coffee counter. Frank Currie, Gordon McDonald and Art Ward are having a snack. Then off to bed. But first I say my pyjamas and put on my prayers.

"Nolan Would Cool Marotti"—Sez Calgary

CALGARY—Let's spin the sports sphere: Certain of "Irish Jimmy" Nolan's biggest boosters in these parts will bet you that when—and if—he gets Al Marotti in a ring again, the Twin Falls battler won't come out for the third round. They figure that Nolan has far too much dynamite in his mitts, particularly the right, for clever boxer Marotti. What's more the Nolan boosters are sure Marotti won't be able to stay away from their boy, bicycle or no bicycle . . . Add the-things-you-hear from Calgary-baseball insiders: John Ducey plans to import a Negro balltosser for his Eskimos; also will bring back Ray Enjaian, Cub third-sacker in 1948, and install the Californian at second base, Bill Price's old spot. The colored player in question is in Alaska at present.

Veteran righthander Tommy Brant is likely to try a comeback with Cal's Dodgers. And don't be surprised if Ralph Morgan, manager of Eskimos a year ago, turns up in a Dodger monkey suit . . . Morgan has been training at the YMCA, in Edmonton, along with outfielder Doug Stewart.

Add secret-ambition-dept.: Flyers' Elmer Kreller has a yen to be a farmer, wouldn't mind sometime picking himself off some land near his brother in the Vermilion district. At the same time he's quite content for the present to continue in the automotive industry and play hockey on the side, or vice-versa.

Weslock Used To Be Wisnock

Nick Weslock, just voted Canada's outstanding amateur golfer in the 1949 season, played in the Canadian amateur at Edmonton in 1946 as—Nick Wisnock. Don't ask us why he changed his moniker, 'cause we don't know . . . Thoroughbred-owner Max Cristall is looking for big things from three-year-old Pierrette. This one was bought for the Edmonton hotelman at the famed Keeneland, Kentucky, sales in November, 1948. It started two or three times last season and raced impressively before being suddenly taken out of training . . . Doak Walker, U.S. college football star, doesn't work for peanuts as a commentator. At least he's supposed to have put the touch on Cowtown grid leaders for $400 to come to Calgary and provide a running commentary to go with pictures of the Notre Dame-Southern Methodist game at Dallas last fall, shown here Thursday night. Of course he tossed in a number of good-will visits around the city for good measure.

They're saying hereabouts, although not much above a whisper, that goalie Russ Dertell will be lost to Stampeders next season. If you can add it up, he's supposed to have been offered a terrific business proposition elsewhere in the league, one he'll be hard put to turn his back on.

Remember Woody Bell, the big fellow who first-based for Yanks at Renfrew Park in the war years? He's still active in Texas semi-pro circles.

Butch McDonald Likes Kilburn

Add down-memory-lane with 'Chub' Irish, currently a resident of Calgary, but once a standout ball-player and curler in the Edmonton district: The baseball league that operated in 1919 at Diamond Park—such names as Cecil Downey, Joe Stoetzel, Matt Nehring, Jot Kutina, Jack Starky, Tom Carrigan, 'Chuck' Henderson, 'Deacon' White, yes, and 'Chub' Irish. The Alberta Curling Association 'spiel at Edmonton in 1935, the Grand Challenge won by Billy Rose, Sedgewick, who had Irish at third, Billy Murray, at second, and George Crooks in the lead role . . . Something to ponder: Joe Fisher: who did a great job with Medicine Hat juniors this term, is close to a cinch to come up with a coaching job in the Western Canada Hockey League next season. Question is, where?

Byron (Butch) McDonald is among those who think Flyers' Colin Kilburn would do alright in the National Hockey League . . . "Bet he'd score 20 goals his first season down there," McDonald insists. The Stampeder coach figures Kilburn's knack of hanging tough in the goal-mouth is just what the doctor ordered for success in the NHL.

President Harold Brandreth is authority for the statement that the Alberta (Sh)amateur Hockey Association will formally recognize Mercurys' tournament triumph in London. But even Brandreth isn't certain, yet, how they'll go about it.

Cougars Maul Vic To Win Cage Crown

CARDSTON, March 25—(CP)—Cardston Cougars won the Alberta high school men's basketball championship here last night when they trimmed Edmonton Victorians 66-52. Cougars won the best-of-three series in two straight games, taking the first game Thursday night here.

By virtue of their victory, Cougars will tackle the winner of Saskatchewan and Manitoba in the Western Canada junior semi-final and the right to travel to Vancouver to tackle the coast champions for the Western Canada title.

Cougars had very little difficulty in turning back the Edmonton bid last night. They stepped into the lead in the first minute of play and maintained it throughout the entire 40 minutes.

Up 16-13 at the end of the first quarter, Cougars pulled into a 33-22 lead at half time and breezed through the second half for 34 points and a comparatively easy win.

Pacing the Cardston club to the championship was Don Newton and Verle Leavitt with 17 points apiece while Alex Murray netted 20 points for the losers.

MARCIANO IN SPLIT WIN OVER LA STARZA

NEW YORK, March 25—(AP)—Rocky Marciano, unbeaten Brockton, Mass., belter, blasted his way to the top ranks of the heavyweight division last night by gaining a split decision over previously-unconquered Roland La Starza of New York in a blazing 10-rounder in Madison Square Garden. Marciano weighed 183½, La Starza 187. The swarthy, 25-year-old New England socker won his 27th straight victory by the narrowest of margins.

After the judges had split, referee Jack Watson cast the deciding ballot for Marciano. Watson gave each fighter five rounds but awarded the bout to Marciano on points, 9 to 6.

Judge Arthur Aidala voted for La Starza, 5-4-1, and Judge Arthur Schwartz scored for Marciano, 5-4-1.

Nothing New

EAC hockey director Leo Le Clerc announced last night there were no new developments in the proposed far western juvenile hockey series between EAC and Kimberley. Kimberley made EAC a proposition to play a three-game series in the B.C. town, but has not yet replied to the Clubmen's request for a guarantee.

Boxing Tourney Success in North

GRANDE PRAIRIE, March 25—Over 500 fans attended the Peace River area's first amateur boxing eliminations here last Saturday. And when the final hook had been thrown —10 from Grande Prairie, one from Peace River and one from Sexsmith—had won their way into the Alberta finals, which will be held in Calgary during Easter week.

Frank Robideau, an 118-pounder from this town, won the radio-station CFGP trophy as the outstanding boxer on the card.

Best bout of the evening featured Gordon Bussierers and Ken Jebb two Grande Prairie lads who clashed in the 70-pound final. Bussierers copped the duke after outsmarting a tiring Jebb, who had fought in one elimination bout before qualifying for a berth in the final.

Donald Erskine from Grande Prairie proved himself to be the best crowd pleaser in action. He had to overhaul Peace River's Ron Anderson in the 65-pound final.

Following are complete final results

Price Ignites Rockets To Burn Up Clover Leafs

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., March 25 — (CP) — Magrath Rockets last night squeaked through with a 78-77 victory over Vancouver Clover Leafs to square the Western Canada men's senior basketball semi-final at one game apiece. Deciding contest will be played here tonight.

A screaming crowd of 1,000 fans saw the Rockets win the game in the last minute of play when Bill Price, former University of Alberta star, tossed in a lay up shot to send the Rockets ahead 76-75.

During the final minute of play, Price and Larry West clicked on free throws to put the southern Alberta club ahead 78-75. But Ole Bakken counted the final basket of the night for Leafs with five seconds of play remaining.

ROCKETS TRAIL

Rockets trailed from the first minute of play until Price shot them into the lead with approximately 90 seconds remaining in regulation time.

Price was the individual star of the game. He turned in a brilliant defensive effort, stalling for time in the dying seconds of the game in great fashion, and led scorers on both clubs with 22 points. Young Larry West was close on his heels with 18 points.

Lanky Ole Bakken paced Ralph Henderson's Leafs, seeking their fourth straight Dominion crown, with 17 points while captain Ron Webber, who fouled out with five minutes of play remaining, was second with 15 points.

KEPT HACKING AWAY

The second half was nip-and-tuck, Rockets managing to stick closely to Leafs. After five minutes of play the defending champions were ahead 54-48. Dick Sabey of the winners tied the score at the 10-minute mark 58-58. Leafs with Bakken and Bob Haas flipping a couple of baskets apiece, jumped ahead 71-65 after 15 minutes of play.

Rockets kept hacking away at the Leafs' lead, moving to within two points of deadlocking the score when Walt Pashuk netted a basket with three minutes to go.

Allan West tied the score 74-74 a few seconds later and then, after Mulhern collected one point on a foul shot to send the Leafs up one point, Price broke down the floor to send the Rockets into a lead they held for the final minute and 25 seconds.

Rockets were called on fouls 27 times while the Leafs were nipped 30 times.

Down Memory Lane At St. Anthony's

By Dick Beddoes

There are a lot a yesterdays in the history of St Anthony's college. And the priests who run this Catholic institution for junior seminarians in north Edmonton hope there will be a lot of tomorrows.

But in May they'll be reflecting on the yesterdays. For this is a jubilee year for the Franciscan fathers of St. Anthony's, marking their first 25 years of action in the Canadian northwest.

Sports form the major extra-curricular activity for the St. Anthony's boys, and in 25 years they've been chasing pucks and looping basketballs with considerable prominence in Edmonton school circles.

Come with us, then, down memory lane with St. Anthony's athletes from 1925 to 1950. Remember . . .

1925—A song called "Limehouse Blues" sweeping the nation, and the population on Broadway and Jasper singing "What's Become of Sally" . . . The other war was over and the heroes of Vimy and Ypres were the athletic kings of the hour . . .

1928-30—Remember how the baritones were warbling "Springtime in the Rockies"? . . . Wall Street hit some rockies of its own on one crisp football day in 1929, two years after Charlie Lindbergh flew the Atlantic . . . Among the new students at St. Anthony's was Anton Seiferling who was later to become the outstanding hockey player of the generation amongst the brown-and-white seminarians . . . A depression closing in on a world, but crowds still jamming their way to see Bobby Jones slam a golf ball down a tree-lined fairway.

★ ★ ★

1932—International chaos, politics changed, governments being overthrown . . . the Golden Era of sport gone down the hill . . . and Amos n Andy ranking with Kate Smith on radio's hit parade. Carl Sebastian and Sebastian Mildenberger patrolling the blue line for St. Anthony's Brownies, later becoming Father Wenceslaus and Father Columban. Goalie Alphonse Beausoliel registered three straight shutouts as the Brownies won 13 and lost one.

★ ★ ★

1936—Social Credit coming along to introduce script for money with the slogan "What Alberta makes, makes Alberta." . . . Charles McNamara guiding St. Anthony's to the City Catholic hockey title, with Lucien Tougas and Gerry Hague (later Father Alban) packing a lot of the mail.

★ ★ ★

1938—The Big Four at Munich playing football with a world, and in the international crap game a gent with the initials A. H. played with loaded dice. . . . Hockey star Seiferling was back at St. Anthony's by this time, only now they were calling him Father Canasius as he coached track and field, baseball and hockey.

A whiz of an athlete named Greg McLellan had passed this way later to become one of Alberta's great clutch hitters, and enter a parish of his own at Drumheller.

1940-41—Dunkirk, the topic of the day, as Hitler stood 20 miles away across the channel from Churchill's England . . . young men from colleges of every denomination doing a job from which some didn't return . . .

1942—Kate Smith singing "There'll Always Be An England", and a lot of folks spending [illegible] in faraway places with strange sounding names . . . St Anthony's closed for the time being, and a world of sport paling into insignificance beside the game of war . . .

1943-44—D-Day was history . . . and it looked like there always would be an England . . . St Anthony's re-opened with a record high of over 60 students, with a former student called Father [illegible]dolph Wagner coaching the basketball team . . .

1945-47—United Nations . . . and the return of the gang who had a hand in keeping that north Atlantic lung open to Great Britain during the precarious past . . .

The atomic bomb was here to stay but the question folks were asking was: Are we? . . . Mike O'Neill threw baseballs for St. Anthony's with a blinding speed, and one summer day at Clarke Stadium he fanned 21 batters to create a junior record for [illegible]

1948-49—Sports assured of a [illegible] more dollars than Heinz has pickles from the controversial Marshall Plan . . . People saw flying saucers, Edmonton won an Allan Cup and Joe Louis retired undefeated as heavyweight boxing king of the globe . . .

St. Anthony's was to win the Motor Car Supply trophy three out of five in Intercollegiate hockey play with such as Don Crough, Gene Syska, Gerry Barre, Ian McDougall, Don Kramer, Fred Williams, Mike Fortier and Charlie McLellan showing the way . . .

On the basketball court there was John Dewar, Moe Allan, Dave Lemmon and Ed McKinney were leading lights, with Dewar perhaps the most valuable player [illegible] 1949-50.

1950—St. Anthony's jubilee year [illegible] lines But [illegible] pages as [illegible] and how was it done.

CAMBRIDGE — (SF) — The late Charlie Brickley's 34 field goals out of 37 attempts, while playing for Harvard university three years, is still a record.

Network Programs Too Concentrated

Week-End Is Jammed As Stations Vie For Listeners

By Maury Soward
Bulletin Staff Writer

That question must have occurred time and again to the radio addict who feasts on the best of comic, musical and dramatic talent on Sundays and then starves the rest of the week.

The networks seem to be defeating themselves by patronizing the Sunday listener to the impressive extent they do.

There's something for everybody all right but it's far too much for any one listener to take in.

For example, there are at least four hour-long dramatic productions worth listening to—NBC Theatre, Stage 50, Screen Guild and MGM Theatre—not to mention the barrage of "whodunits."

The big - league comedians are equally out in force.

REST SUFFERS

Each station is trying to outdo the other by offering more and better entertainment, and at the same times.

And it wouldn't be so bad if the after-effects didn't last beyond Sunday.

But, not only is there insufficient talent to spread over the rest of the week but what entertainment there is seems to be concentrated in entertainment "blocks"—two hours of whodunits here, an hour and a half or comedy there, and so on.

The result is that each weekday has assumed a sort of radio personality of its own.

CBC OFFENDS

If you want comedy, you're out of luck. That comes on Tuesday night with Jack Benny, Bob Hope and Fibber McGee regaling the listening customers in shifts. But there isn't much in the way of good music.

Thursday night is mystery show night and Friday is also heavy on the drama.

And the CBC is among the offenders with its Wednesday Night block of cultural programs.

As a rule, there's nothing wrong with any one of the programs making up the CBC Wednesday Night list. But why make a solid and somewhat indigestible three hour mass out of them?

Individually, they'd be just as welcome to most listeners any other night of the week. And a share-the-cultural-wealth policy would save a lot of listeners the mental anguish of missing the whole package if they happen to be out the night it comes on.

Famed Dutch Orchestra Plans Concert

The Concertgebouw Orchestra of Amsterdam, the leading symphony orchestra in The Netherlands and one of the world's finest symphonic groups, will present a special "thanksgiving" concert in Ottawa October 6 in honor of Prime Minister St. Laurent and the Canadian people.

The concert will coincide with the presentation of a collection of contemporary Dutch art to the Museum of Ottawa.

Both events have been planned by The Netherlands as a national expression of gratitude to Canada five years after liberation for the role played by the Canadian Army in freeing Holland from the German occupying forces and for the hospitality shown by Canada to the Dutch Royal family during the war.

The orchestra, which will appear in Ottawa under the direction of its permanent conductor, Eduard van Beinum, will arrive in New York Sept. 30 on board the Holland-America Line flagship Nieuw Amsterdam.

During its three-and-a-half-week visit in the United States and Canada, it will give eighteen concerts including a performance in Washington, D.C., on October 1 in honor of President Truman.

The projected tour will mark the first time in its 62-year history that the famed Concertgebouw Orchestra will have crossed the Atlantic.

CN Singers In Concert

The "Railroaders" will sing again, March 29.

The famed CNRA Glee Club of Edmonton will present a fourth annual concert on that date in the Masonic Temple under the leadership of music master Bill Smith.

The well-known Music Forum Trio will appear as guest artists on the Wednesday night program. The ensemble is made up of Mrs. Jessie Bonner, pianist; E. B. Swindlehurst, violinist, and Harcourt Smith, cellist.

Talented group of assisting vocalists will also be featured. The list includes Dorothy Mecklenburg, soprano; Violet Cumming, contralto; William Smith, tenor; Ole Olson, baritone.

Musical Event

Allegro Club of Edmonton will present a students' recital on April 2 at 8 p.m. in the Museum of Arts.

INTRODUCTION OF administrative direct-or of Ballet Theatre, Lucia Chase, to dancers of opera's ballet school in New York was made recently by Rudolph Bing, general manager of Metropolitan Opera Company. Meeting took place as top officials of opera and ballet theatre met to discuss permanent New York alliance between the two organizations.

Sunday Musicale Slated At Museum

Contributing to the program will be Ruth Cullerne, soprano, accompanist; Miss Joyce Lees Moore; Ernestine Randlett, pianist; Leona Lazarowich, violinist; accompanist Miss H. Lazarowich.

Quick Delivery Of Grain Urged

Exclusive to the Bulletin

WINNIPEG, Man., March 25 — (BUP) — The grain trade today was urged to deliver wheat, oats and barley "as soon as possible" so that the products could be sold when markets are available.

George Melvor, chief commissioner of the Canadian Wheat Board, told producers the three pooling operations now operated by the board—the five-year wheat pool and the oats and barley pools of this crop season—all ended July 31.

Three Best Books Of 1949 Named

NEW YORK, March 18. — (AP) — The American book industry today awarded gold plaques to three authors for the "most distinguished" books of 1949.

The awards went to:

Dr. Relph I. Rusk of New York for "The Life of Ralph Waldo Emerson," adjudged the best nonfiction work.

Dr. William Carlos Williams for "Paterson: Book III" and "Selected Poems."

Talented Musician Returning To City

Talented Edmonton scholarship winning violinist Zonia Lazarowich, will return to Edmonton in July or August after three years of study at the Royal College of Music, London, England.

News of the brilliant young violinist's return to this city comes form her father P. J. Lazarowich, KC, well-known Edmonton barrister.

She reports that her work with Albert Sammons, foremost British violinist and teacher, is still taking up most of her time, with afternoon-long sessions every Saturday, under the master's eye—and plenty of hard work in between.

"We have done about five Mozart works already, plus Brahms and the Franck sonata," she writes, describing part of her studies.

Besides studying the young Edmonton artist is also teaching. At a select girls' school in Basingstoke, Hampshire, she is in charge of "10 violin pupils, one viola, a small orchestra and a study group of the older girls," she stated in her last letter.

ON CONCERT STAGE

London County Council Concert appearances have also been an important part of Miss Lazarowich's busy musical agenda, it is reported.

"They are really lecture recitals," she wrote recently. "For instance, we play part of a Beethoven or Haydn trio and a solo—with each work preceded by a brief explanation to school children audiences."

"We make a few bob on it," she added.

The musical evening—professional calibre performance—is apparently a regular feature — with guests as famous Geoffrey Tankard, outstanding English pianist, to put in an appearance.

Novelty Song Writers Know Plugging Secret

By Jack Gaver
Exclusive to The Bulletin

NEW YORK—(UP)—When Mack David and Jerry Livingstone, who are responsible for the score of Walt Disney's picture "Cinderella," knock out a novelty tune they know what sort of reception they'll get from the music publishers.

"They'll listen to it," David explained, "then they'll say, 'It's a good song, boys, but its special material. Couldn't touch it.'"

"Whenever we hear that," Livingstone said, "we keep on making the rounds because we know that somewhere, somehow we'll get the song before the public and it probably will be a hit."

Their "Bibbidi-Bobbidi Boo" song from "Cinderella" falls into the specialty classification. It quickly gained a high place on radio's "Hit Parade" weeks before the film was released, but if they had been trying to sell it as a popular number they would have had plenty of trouble.

"Mairzy Doats" was one song of this type in which Livingstone had a hand and which knocked around for many months before it could be put before the public.

"But we outsmarted a publisher on one song of that type," David said. "That one was 'Chi-baba, Chi-baba.' We made it up out of our heads, both the music and words, but when we submitted it to a publisher we didn't tell him it was an original.

CATCH SONG

"We told him that we had been eating in Asos restaurant—you know, that place downtown where customers are encouraged to sing what and when they please—and that we heard a fellow giving out with a catchy song. We said we asked the singer what it was and he told us it was an old folk song his grandmothers used to sing to him. Public domain stuff.

Haydn Symphonies Are Featured In Latest Classical Recordings

Recording companies are leaning heavily on Haydn for their classics this month.

So far, Victor has made a new recording of Haydn's Symphony No. 96, in D. London recorded his Symphony No. 100 in E Flat Major, nicknamed "The Drums," and the Haydn Society announced conversion of the 18th century composer's masterpiece, The Creation.

Also recommended:

Italian tenor Mario Lanza's vocalizing in "O Sole Mio" and "Mattinata" (Victor); the amazing freshness and color of the Boston Pops Orchestra's newest version of Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2 in C Sharp (Victor); and the keyboard artistry of Julius Katchen in Chopin's "Polonaise No. 6 in A Flat Major (London).

POPULAR

The Three Suns and The Honeydreamers have some gay and sprightly fun with Offenbach's Parisian polka and Lisa Kirk and Fran Warren indulge in a little scattiness and hair-pulling in "Dearie" and "Just a Girl That Men Forget."

Lisa Kirk also teams up with Don Cornell to revive the oldie, "Have You Ever Been Lonely?" and do a little squabbling in "You Missed the Boat."

Also on the Victor label, the Irving Fields' Trio has some clever arrangements in "The Third Man Theme" and "Poet and Peasant Rumbature," the latter based on Von Suppe's famous "Poet and Peasant Overture."

Also recommended: The Eve Young (London) and Art Mooney Choir (MGM) versions of "If I Knew You were coming I'd Have Baked a Cake." —(A. J.)

SYMPHONY

Victor has released the first of 12 symphonies Haydn wrote for his triumphal visit to London in 1791. It reflects the supreme mastery Haydn achieved in later years. Describing it himself, Haydn said that the work was "suffused with the sense of mellowness and maturity, of long experience and an old-age tolerantly worn; for serene, for passion, too wise for sadness, too single-hearted for regret. It has learned the lesson of life and will question it no further."

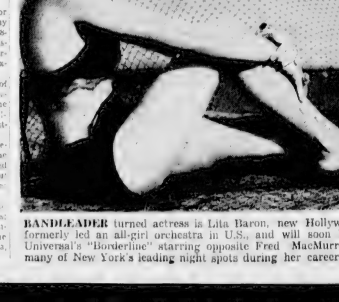
MOST AMBITIOUS

The recording marks the Victor debut with the NBC Symphony Orchestra of Guido Cantelli, the 28-year-old Italian conductor "discovered" by Arturo Toscanini. Performance and reproduction are excellent.

Symphony No. 103 is the last of Haydn's symphonies and one of his most entrancingly melodious. The performance of the Munich Philharmonic Orchestra also is first-rate.

The Haydn's Society's "The Creation" is the most ambitious of the three works. It is usually regarded as one of Haydn's finest works but doesn't sound much like his other masterpieces.

The soloists are Irmgard Eiperle, soprano; Georg Hann, bass; Julius Patzak, tenor, and the Vienna State Opera Chorus, with the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra, under Clemens Krauss.



BANDLEADER turned actress is Lita Baron, new Hollywood starlet. Miss Baron formerly led an all-girl orchestra in U.S., and will soon be seen in Edmonton in Universal's "Borderline" starring opposite Fred MacMurray. Miss Baron played many of New York's leading night spots during her career as bandleader

Young City Singer Joins U.S. Opera Group

By Georgina Yule

Rare opportunity to study under two of the greatest men of the opera world has come to Edmonton soprano, Sherrill Lanyon.

Out of 400 singers auditioned for the chorus of the San Francisco Opera Company, only 15 were chosen by Maestro Gaetano Merola and Kurt Adler, chorus master of the San Francisco and Metropolitan opera companies.

Miss Lanyon was one of these.

For the past few months the Edmonton singer has been studying in Sacramento and was not available when the regular auditions were held.

There was a special audition at San Francisco opera house was arranged March 14.

During her 90-minute audition, in which she was accompanied by Mr. Adler, she sang Micaela's aria from "Carmen" in French, and Un Bel Di from "Madame Butterfly" in Italian.

A TRIBUTE

In accepting her as a member of the company, director Merola said, "If I did not consider your voice to be operatic quality I would not have given you three minutes of my time."

Rehearsals for the fall opera season start this month, and as a member of the chorus Miss Lanyon will become literally saturated with opera. She will have an opportunity to sing on the same stage with the world's greatest opera stars.

Intensive training she will receive under the direction and supervision of Merola and Adler will include voice production, languages, operatic drama and stage deportment; in fact, everything she needs as a foundation to an operatic career.

Moreover, in view of her promising future, Miss Lanyon will receive a salary while training with the chorus.

Miss Lanyon is well known in Edmonton for her concert and radio work. Her most recent triumph was with the Civic Opera Company last fall, when she took the role of Micaelo in "Carmea."

SAN FRANCISCO audition spelled success for Edmonton soprano Sherrill Lanyon, who will start rehersals this month as a member of that city's renowned opera company.

Minaki Opening

WINNIPEG, March 25—Minaki Lodge, summer resort in the heart of the Lake of the Woods district, will open the 1950 season on June 23, according to Lionel Wanzell, manager. It will remain open until Sept. 5.

Met Final Is La Boheme

For the final presentation in the broadcast series of Metropolitan Operas, sponsored in Canada by McColl-Frontenac Oil Company Ltd., Puccini's ever-popular and charming opera "La Boheme" will hold the spotlight today.

It was first produced in Turin, Italy, in 1896, and in the following year, was given twice in English, at Manchester and Covent Garden, London, where overwhelming acclaim confirmed the Continental verdict that Puccini was indeed a worthy successor to the great Verdi.

The material was gathered from Murger's novel "Vie de Boheme," and the music is vigorous and full of life, yet, withal, interlaced with touches of appealing sweetness and grace.

The great role of Mimi, the flower seller will be taken in the performance by Mme. Albanese, and others in a top ranking cast, include John Brownlee as Marcello, and Richard Tucker as Rudolph. Giuseppe Atonicelli will conduct.

The intermission features, Opera Quiz and Opera News of the Air, will be presided over by Boris Goldovsky and Deems Taylor, respectively.

MOVIE CHATTER

British Movie Stars Insured In Canada

One of the most unusual articles on British film stars is in the current issue of the magazine published by a Canadian life insurance company.

Combing through the records, the editor discovered that many of Britain's top stars are policyholders in Canadian companies and published a portrait gallery of them all.

The motion picture industry has $2,500,000,000 invested in 16,000 theatres in the United States alone.

It has $135,000,000 invested in Hollywood studios.

It spent $250,000,000 making movies in 1949.

The mahouts who guide this economic elephant are the producers, have to watch the big beast constantly lest he stumble over straws. In simpler words, dropping the metaphor, this gigantic industry often is badgered by little things, both amusing and annoying. Oddities pop up in the making of movies that never could occur in a manufacturing industry controlled by precision instruments.

Canadian audiences who admired Eileen Herlie's portrayal of Queen Gertrude in Sir Laurence Olivier's "Hamlet" will soon see her again in "The Angel With the Trumpet."

This is a kind of "Cavalcade" of Vienna of the time of the Mayerling tragedy to the Hitler invasion. Against the background of Vienna, as enacted the story of a beautiful woman's life until, as a grave and dignified old lady, she prefers death to slavery under the Nazis.

If accidents run in sets of three, June Clayworth, playing the feminine heavy in the 1948 Richard Sloan of the Musketeers," has filled her 1950 quota. She collected all three in 60 seconds.

During a scene preceding Miss Clayworth's screen death a rapier ripped through her sleeve and scratched her arm. As she fell, an actor playing a castle guard stepped on her ankle, inflicting a bad cut and bruise. Next, a heavy ink stand was knocked off a table, struck the actress on the forehead and raised a lump the size of a bird's egg.

Jack L. Warner, executive producer, yesterday announced Warner Bros. production plans for the next seventeen months and disclosed that the company, which currently has four major films before the cameras, has scripts on 20 story properties in various stages of preparation for planned production within the next four months.

The schedule is planned to keep production on an even level, the executive producer said. "There will be no slackening," Warner said in our efforts to maintain a steady pace in the production of Warner motion pictures. We will do all in our power to stabilize both production and employment."

Included in the twenty properties are famous Broadway stage successes, best-seller novels and original stories for the screen. A total of 64 top screen personalities will appear in the program of pictures. Seven of the 20 films will be in Technicolor.

Art Gallery Is Enriched

OTTAWA.—(CP)—A number of important additions to the National Gallery of Canada were announced following a meeting of the trustees to discuss future expansion.

Among the additions is a group of Canadian and European paintings, prints and drawings. A special feature is a number of gifts, including a set of Piranesi's etchings, "The Prisons," presented by H. S. Southam of Ottawa; a group of 12 canvases presented by Lawren Harris of Vancouver and two additions to the Massey Collection of English paintings presented by the Massey Foundation.

Attending the meeting were Vincent Massey, chairman, Mr. Southam, Jean Chauvin of Montreal, and Mr. Harris, whose appointment to the board was announced recently by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Senator Asks Canada Get Rid Of TCA

The Progressive Conservative leader, criticizing government expenditures, noted that the government's supplementary estimates for 1949 includes an appropriation to cover a trans-Canada air lines deficit of more than $1,000,000.

Government-owned, the TCA was a "nice thing" to have, said Senator Haig. TCA planes were nice to ride in, but in fact, no one in the people of Canada could afford "that kind of travel."

"What do you want us to do?" inquired Senator A. W. de H. Harris (L., British Columbia), "go back to horse and buggy days?"

"Ride the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways," replied Senator Haig.

Red Quits

PRAGUE, March 25.—(AP)—Justice Minister Alexei Cepicka resigned yesterday as general secretary of the action committee of the Communist dominated National Front. Cepicka, also minister of church affairs, gave the "pressure of other work" as his reason for quitting, the government-controlled Prague radio said.

Farmers' Income Nearly 21-2 Billion

Alberta Among Provinces With Higher 1949 Returns

OTTAWA, March 25.—(CP)—Canadian farmers took in a total of $2,456,871,000 from sale of their products in 1949, the Bureau of Statistics reported today. It was slightly less than the 1948 peak of $2,459,393,000.

Income in 1947 from sale of farm products was $1,-967,263,000.

"The maintenance of farm cash income last year at a near-record level," the bureau said, "may be largely attributed to increased returns from the sale of wheat and livestock and the substantial grain equalization and participation payments distributed in 1949 for previous years' crops."

These payments, it added, amounted to $220,000,000 in 1949 compared with $179,800,000 the previous year. In addition, supplementary payments made under provisions of the Prairie Farm Assistance Act in 1949 totalled $17,828,000 compared with $20,748,000 in 1948.

GRAIN INCOME UP

Cash income from sale of grains, seed and hay rose to $855,912,000 in 1949 from $668,601,000 the preceding year, wheat alone accounting for $464,786,000 compared with $407,851,000. Income from the sale of livestock totalled $306,212,000 compared with $281,375,000, dairy products $350,052,000 compared with $386,551,000, vegetables and other field crops $154,737,000 compared with $130,425,000, and fruits $45,-352,000 compared with $46,501,000.

Preliminary estimates of cash income show lower returns in 1949 than in 1948 in all provinces except Nova Scotia, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Ontario had the largest total of $653,500,000 compared with $685,932,000 in 1948 followed by Saskatchewan at $536,400,000 compared with $534,000,000, Alberta at $460,200,000 compared with $452,-500,000, and Quebec at $346,700,000 compared with $355,000,000.

Other provinces, with 1948 figures bracketed: Manitoba $238,100,000 ($247,300,000); British Columbia $98,000,000 ($102,300,000); New Brunswick $44,700,000 ($46,400,000); Nova Scotia $38,000,000 ($37,500,-000); Prince Edward Island $21,-300,000 ($22,400,000).

Flood Down On Etobicoke Crisis Over

TORONTO, March 25.—(BUP)—Flood-swollen waters of the ramparaging Etobicoke river receded today and the crisis they brought with them was reported over.

But in some parts of the river valley, near Toronto, the word "relief" went a lot deeper than a feeling of lessened tension.

While the river went back on its regular course scores of homes remained isolated, a truck was sent to rescue bus passengers marooned in three feet of water, and the Red Cross swung its emergency units into action.

Since yesterday afternoon the river, swollen by melted snow, still more snowfall and then rain, rose about four feet. Then it went down again to a little above normal. Threat of more rain indicated it might start rising once more.

Provincial police said at least eight families fled their homes in the south end of the river valley and headed for higher and drier land, leaving their furniture and most of their possessions behind them.

Javes Bertrand's family was typical of them. His wife and their 13 young children called on the Red Cross for help late yesterday and pleaded to be taken from their four-room home by nightfall. The Red Cross got them out.

Hoodlumism Brings Action

VANCOUVER, March 24—(CP)—Problem of juvenile hoodlumism will be investigated by the Vancouver city council next month.

Alderman Archie F. Proctor said today the whole question will be threshed out by the council.

Controversy has developed over a report of Police Chief Walter Mulligan, in which he criticized the Community Hall Association "for failing to carry out their responsibility to see that liquor is not permitted on community hall premises."

There was a near-riot in the hall March 10 and arrival of police was delayed, the chief reported, by vandals who damaged a squad car. Police were at another fight when hoodlums pulled wires connection spark plugs and let air out of one of the tires on the car.

Chief Navy Man Happy With Test

HMCS Magnificent at Sea, March 25. — (CP) — Commodore K. F. Adams, commanding officer of the Canadian aircraft carrier Magnificent, said today he was highly pleased with the performance of Canadian naval ships and aircraft during Exercise Carlinex.

"This has been our first opportunity to operate as a unit of a fleet," said Commodore Adams, senior Canadian naval officer afloat. "The results of the exercise have proven to me from both the air and surface points of view that we are capable of taking our place in any fleet."

The Maggie and the destroyer Micmac were the Canadian vessels taking part in Exercise Caribex, a series of joint manoeuvres carried out with United States and British units in the Caribbean over the last two weeks.

Czech Attache Office Brings New Hopes

By John Ormonde
Exclusive to the Bulletin

MONTREAL, March 25.—(BUP)—Canadians took a peek behind the Iron Curtain today and believed maybe the cold war is getting a little warmer.

Occasion of the significant curtain-raising ceremony was the opening of the new Czechoslovakian commercial attache's office here with Western diplomats and top representatives of Russian satellite countries in attendance.

Dr. Jiri Mares, still-popular Czech counsel despite Canada's brush with the Czechs over the exchange of "expelled" consular men, described the affair as the first step in better relations between the two nations.

"We want to cement relations between Canada and Czechoslovakia," he told reporters.

NEW PAPER

Perhaps another significant happening in relations between North America and the Slav countries was the Yugoslavs decision to circulate a small fortnightly, printed in English in New York for U.S.-Canadian consumption.

The new newspaper, dubbed "Yugoslav Fortnightly," has been widely publicized by Marshal Tito's representatives in a number of North American papers.

Tito, still worried about being caught in between the Anglo-American zone and the Russians, was reported anxious to maintain as amicable relations as possible with North America.

New Pacific CPA Route?

OTTAWA, March 25 — (CP) — Canada and the United States may soon have to open negotiations under their civil air agreement to find a new trans-Pacific route for Canadian Pacific Air Lines, informed sources said today.

CPA now uses an American air force base in the Aleutians as a refuelling stop on its regular run from Vancouver to the Far East, but the USAF is expected to abandon the base. There is a chance that it will be kept open under civilian auspices, but this is not considered likely here.

If not, it is expected Canada would ask for a new route through Honolulu.

An official said no extensive rewriting of the agreement is expected here. The change, he said, would only involve "a slight amendment to one route covered by the amendment."

Frank Buck Dies

HOUSTON, Tex., March 25. — (BUP)—Frank Buck, 66, of "Bring 'em back alive" fame died here today. The big game hunter died at Hermann hospital, where he was admitted in late February for treatment for cancer.

Un-American Group To Investigate Itself

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(UP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee started today to investigate itself.

Chairman John S. Wood, D., Ga., ordered staff members to find out what became of a committee file which is said to name House and Senate members who contributed to an alleged Communist front organization — the American Slav Congress.

Matthews Cvetic, FBI undercover agent, told the committee yesterday the list is missing. He said it was one of several hundred documents he salvaged from a Pittsburgh, Pa., Communist front organization office two months ago.

The documents—eight pounds of them—were turned over to the committee in two large suitcases by Harry Sherman, a Pittsburgh attorney.

WILL SEEK LIST

Wood said last night that Sherman, however, did not believe the list in question was among those he turned over to the committee.

"Sherman has advised us that he inventoried the files turned over by him to investigators and that his inventory failed to reflect such a list was in the files delivered," Wood said.

He said, however, a full investigation will be made "in an effort to determine its location." He said Sherman would be called to tell what he knows about the matter at a formal hearing.

Wood said he was confident that "if the file was delivered to the committee it has been mislaid."

Grim Task Underway For Navy

HALIFAX, N.S., March 25—(BUP) — The navy resumed its grim task today of attempting to locate the seven missing fishermen who drowned March 18 when the schooner Gertrude D'Accota sank in Halifax harbor.

A squad of Royal Canadian Navy divers will be despatched to the sea bottom in search of the missing crewmen, lost when the schooner was rammed amidships by the freighter Island Connector.

Fog prevented the divers from touching sea bottom yesterday in their search, but navy chiefs were hopeful a change in the weather would aid their underwater probe.

ELEVEN DEAD

A submerged object located by a navy tender's grapnel hooks yesterday likely was the Gertrude D'Acosta, navy officers said, but only the divers could find out definitely.

At a coroner's inquest on the maritime tragedy, crewman Robert Parker of Canso, N.S., told how the schooner's crew did not sight the oncoming freighter until the 1,500-ton ship crashed into the ill-fated two-masted schooner.

Eleven men lost their lives in the disaster, with six rescued. Four bodies were picked up by navy craft.

War Disaster Killing 127 Men Is Revealed

LONDON, March 25.—(Reuters)—Radio Australia today disclosed for the first time details of an air crash in which 127 Australians and Americans were killed in what is believed to have been the most serious air disaster of the Second World War.

It happened in New Guinea in September, 1943 but details up to now had been withheld by military authorities.

The plane, a United States Liberator loaded with bombs, crashed in a concentration of troops near an airfield at Port Moresby, hitting five trucks loaded with soldiers and ammunition, the radio said.

Federal Fire Aid

WINNIPEG, March 25 — (BUP) — Mines and resources minister J. S. McDiarmid told Manitoba legislature the matter of forest fire prevention would probably be brought up at the Dominion-provincial conference next fall.

McDiarmid said the federal government, which got most of the revenue from Canadian forests, should spend more on protection.

Property damage in Ontario motor vehicle accidents in 1949 was equal to the value of 4,000 new cars.

Settlement Seen Near At Chrysler

DETROIT, Mich., March 25—(UP) — Only a dollars-and-cents agreement stood as the major obstacle to ending the 50-day-old Chrysler Corporation strike today.

In a day packed with action at the bargaining table, both Chrysler and the CIO United Auto Workers made concessions yesterday that had observers predicting an end of the strike by the middle of next week.

Some 89,000 Chrysler workers across the nation walked off their jobs Jan. 25 when the company and union failed to agree on administration of a pension plan.

VEHICLES STOPPED

Some 61,000 other workers have been thrown out of work by the shutdown. Idle assembly lines have kept 300,000 vehicles from the market.

Chrysler earlier offered $100 monthly pensions to aged workers, but the offer was rejected by the UAW when management refused to set up a trust fund to be administered jointly by both sides.

The union demanded a pension, social security and hospital plan that would cost the company 10 cents per man hour.

Yesterday, Chrysler made its biggest concession since the start of negotiations. The company offered to establish a $30,000,000 retirement fund for the five-year duration of a new contract.

Indians Free In Newfoundland, Senate Is Told

OTTAWA, March 25.—(CP)—The government has decided against "the reinstate ster" of putting the Indians of Newfoundland on the same restricted citizenship basis as the other Indians of Canada by bringing them under federal legislation.

This means, a senate committee was told yesterday, that the newest province continues to be the only one in which the Indians—200 to 300 members of the Micmac tribe—have the same citizenship status and privileges as the white man.

The information came from D. M. MacKay, head of the Indian Affairs branch of the new department of citizenship and immigration.

Canada Exports Less Though More to U.S.

OTTAWA, March 25.—(CP)—Value of Canadian exports was down by more than $20,000,000 for the first two months of this year.

The Bureau of Statistics reported to the U.S. for the fourth consecutive month, the bureau said:

an increase in exports to the United States but added that it was more than offset by a decline in exports to other countries.

"Price changes reflecting the premium on United States exchange have contributed to this increase, but its size indicates a substantial rise also in the volume of exports."

Total exports to all countries in February were $160,500,000 compared with $200,000,000 in the same month a year ago. For the first two months of this year the value was $427,600,000—a decline of $21,400,000 from the $447,000,000 in the first two months of 1949.

Domestic exports to the U.S. were valued at $128,838,000 in February compared with $106,709,000 in February, 1949, a gain of almost 21 per cent. This followed a 15-per-cent increase in January.

For the first two months of 1949 the value of shipments to the U.S. was $259,697,000 as against $222,732,000 in 1949.

UP AGAIN TO U.S.

DOWN SHARPLY

February shipments to the United Kingdom were down sharply to $50,574,000 from $44,124,000 in the same month last year. The two-month total was down to $78,981,000 from $99,937,000.

Sales to the other Commonwealth countries as a whole were down during February to $14,300,000 from $17,500,000 in February, 1949. The two-month total was down from $45,400,000 to $28,000,000.

The bureau said the big drop was due almost entirely to sharp declines in the high value of shipments to India last year.

Reds Protest

PARIS, March 25.—(AP)—The Communist-led National Union of Dockworkers last night ordered a 24-hour strike for Monday in all French and Tunisian ports. The strike was ordered as a protest against the arrest of striking dockworkers in Marseille.

REBEL USES ROLLING PIN ON HIS WIFE

Exclusive to The Bulletin

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 25—(BUP)—Preston Williams began a four-month term in the workhouse today because he reversed tradition by hitting his wife over the head with a rolling pin.

Judge Michael A. Musmano told Williams at the trial, "from time immemorial cartoonists have portrayed the hen-pecked husband fleeing from the irate housewife armed with a rolling pin.

"You are trying to break down humorous tradition and a legend of comedy. It is incredible that a husband should hit his wife with a rolling pin. This is revolutionary and cannot be tolerated."

Bride-To-Be Given Sight In Transplant

NEW YORK, March 25—(CP)—Doreen Stoutenberg's operation was a success — she can see again.

"I can see, Mom!" said Doreen, happily.

The Eye Bank for Sight Restoration supplied a cornea for the delicate transplant operation. Doreen had been blind in one eye, with the sight rapidly failing in the other.

The operation meant a lot to Doreen. She plans to be married shortly.

Gov't Asked To Provide Co-op. Loans

OTTAWA, March 25.—(CP)—The federal cabinet today was asked for legislation to provide long-term loans for co-operatives set up to build houses.

The request was among a series contained in a brief placed before the government by the Co-operative Union of Canada and Le Conseil Canadien De La Co-operation.

Ten representatives of the organization from five provinces met with seven cabinet ministers in an hour-long conference. Government reaction was not disclosed.

The brief asked:

1. Federal legislation to serve co-operative needs adequately in the insurance field.

2. Government action to assure that flour be processed so that the finished product will contain vitamin and mineral elements and meet the standard of Canada approved flour.

THREE SPOKESMEN

3. Vigilance by the government in curbing monopolies, which, in some cases, had refused to sell products to co-ops.

4. Amendment to the Veteran's Land Act to permit pooling of government loans to veterans wanting to set up co-operative farms.

5. Exemption from taxation of surpluses of co-operatives and of the income of housing co-ops; extension from three to five years in the initial term of exemption.

A. W. Friesen of Saskatoon, president of the Co-op Union, and M. J. Legere of Caraquet, N.B., vice-president of Le Conseil Canadien De La Co-operation, were spokesmen for the group which included W. B. Francis, Saskatoon.

Lie Hopeful Conflict Ends

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., March 25—(CP)—Satisfaction at the first reactions to a proposal for a top-level meeting of the security council was expressed today by Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary-general.

The cautiously-optimistic view was taken by lie at a press conference where he stressed the long-term character of the east-west conflict.

Lie said he hopes a special council meeting would be the "beginning of the end of the cold war." In a speech at Washington Monday, he pressed the plan for a "periodic" council meeting where members would be represented by foreign ministers or heads of states instead of regular delegates.

Lie indicated that before there can be a special meeting, the Chinese representation issue—which holds the UN deadlocked—would have to be solved.

1,000 FEET In 'Death Fall' Saw Faces Of Loved Ones

WINNIPEG, March 25 — (CP) — No more jumping from airplanes for Pvt. John Risley. Next time he's going to "come down in the accustomed, civilized manner."

Risley, 18-year-old parachuter of Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry regiment, fell 1,000 feet when his parachute failed to open properly near Wainwright, Jan. 10.

He was transferred from Wainwright hospital to Winnipeg to complete treatment of fractures of the right leg, right arm, pelvis and "chips" from his backbone.

On his way down Risley said, "I didn't have time to think — I was too busy trying to untangle my chute."

"Now I have had time to think about it, though," he said, "I remember a momentary flash of the faces of my Mom and Dad, sister and brother across my mind the instant I figured I was going to cash in."

Lots More Talk Seen On Pipelines

Export to Washington Termed Premature by Gov't Officials

Exclusive to the Bulletin

CALGARY, March 25.—(BUP)—Officials of Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board today termed as "premature" the statement of Washington state governor, Arthur B. Langlie, that his state will be importing a "large and steady" supply of Alberta gas "within two or three years."

Langlie told members of the executive committee of the new Washington state industrial development committee in Olympia, Wash., that the proposed multi-million dollar development is now far past the talking stage.

Conservation board officials said here today, however, that "indeed, the export of natural gas is not even out of the talking stage. And won't be for some time."

FIRST OF 3 HEARINGS

The officials said that the board had only begun the first of three hearings which are being granted companies wishing to export Alberta natural gas.

"It will probably be fall before the hearings end. Then, the arguments will have to be considered. And then, the provincial government will decide whether to allow the export of natural gas. Our province is the only one which has gas to export.

WASHINGTON PLEASED

At Olympia, Wash., governor Arthur B. Langlie said Washington would be importing a "large and steady" supply of natural gas from Canada "within the next two or three years."

He said it offered "tremendous potentialities for our continued industrial development, the expansion of our payrolls and stabilization of our economy."

Langlie told the committee the state public service commission already has adopted rules governing the importation of Canadian natural gas to assure the public "fair and reasonable prices."

The governor said engineers estimated natural gas transported in a 26 inch pipeline will generate about 32 per cent more energy than will Grand Coulee dam in Washington state at full capacity.

"A 36-inch pipeline flow would be equivalent in energy potential to two Coulee dams," he said. "When we consider facts like that we can begin to appreciate the tremendous possibilities of this new fuel potential."

Pipeline Again In Filibuster

OTTAWA, March 25.—(CP)—The Commons dragged through another period of filibustering last night as the opposition continued to express disfavor of two pipe-line bills.

E. D. Fulton (PC—Kamloops), L. Baicer (PC—Three Rivers) and W. J. Browne (PC—St. Johns West) talked out the bills in the hour devoted to private members' legislation. They said the bills would result in the export of Canada's much-needed oil and gas into United States.

The bills would incorporate the Prairie Transmission Company and the Alberta Natural Gas Company.

Mr. Fulton said he would not oppose the bills if the government saw fit to amend the original Pipe Lines Act in such a way that Canadian oil could not be exported into the U.S.

He had received representations from various segments of industry in his constituency, including Chambers of Commerce, appealing to him to see that the oil and gas did not leave this country.

TCA Deficit $4.3 Millions

OTTAWA, March 25.—(CP)—Trans-Canada Air Lines planes flew 20,000,000 miles in 1949 and earned $36,000,000 but it was still another deficit year for the far-flung commercial air system.

The annual report of the 10,000-mile, government-operated air line, tabled in the commons yesterday by Trade Minister Howe, showed a record over-all deficit of $4,317,602 on North American and overseas operations. The 1948 deficit was $2,953,453.

On domestic flights TCA produced the highest revenue in its history—more than $26,000,000.

In this sphere it had an operating surplus of almost $2,000,000 before provision for depreciation and interest on capital. But these items dragged down the company to a deficit of almost $1,500,000 compared with one of $1,183,022 for North American operations in 1948.

On overseas flights TCA lost more heavily. Here there was a straight operational deficit of more than $1,000,000—$1,022,386 in revenue against $11,902,385 in expenses. After all provisions, the overseas debit totalled $2,898,149 compared with $1,750,218 in 1948.

CHAIRMEN BECOME RUSTLERS

Senators Play Game, Who Has a Quorum

BY DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, March 25—(CP)—The senate's new experiment in extra work has brought forth a unique form of parliamentary activity—rustling. They're rustling senators.

Senator Cairine Wilson (L—Ontario) spoke of the crime boldly and plainly and with a certain touch of embarrassed indignation.

At the press tables were six or seven reporters, an extraordinary turnout and in itself a tribute to the experiment.

Time passed.

Senator Thomas Reid (L—British Columbia) arrived. Finally the chairman said her committee had been called first but another was sitting at the same time to study other estimates. There also was a divorce committee meeting.

She said Senator John McDonald (L—Nova Scotia), chairman of the natural resources committee, had been around "interviewing our members" to get them to attend his session rather than hers. That was why there were no senators present.

The meeting started 25 minutes late with the chairman and four committee members present.

"Constant reader of On The Town" writes that I should toss an orchid to the male cashier of The Grill Cafe for calling back a young sailor who forgot his change from a $5 bill.

Legalize This One

Here's one sweepstake that should be legal. It's the Press Gallery Association sweep on when the legislature prorogues.

All you have to do is guess closest to the exact time that Lt.-Gov. J. J. Bowlen calles "time" on the session.

Tickets sell for 50 cents each and the reason I think this sweep should be legal is because Attorney-General Lucien Maynard bought one of the first tickets sold. Most of the MLA's are taking a "chance" too.

Well, pro means for and you all know what a rogue is. So what else can it mean but the end of a session for rogues?

Jimmy Riddell, who has been with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber firm in Edmonton since before the guy who invented balloon tires was born, is all excited about next Wednesday.

Meat Cheaper Here?

Still kicking about the price of meat? Of course you are. Well a butcher friend of mine, Bob Bower, tells me retail meat prices in Edmonton are lower than in most cities.

He was racing for the burning oil well with Bulletin reporter Brud Delany and motor mechanic Bob Bourne as passengers in his jallopy that won the 1912 cross country race.

Just outside the city limits Goldstick observed he could already smell the burning oil well fire. A few minutes later he was certain he was close to the blaze because smoke was curling around the car engine hood.

Royal Alex Financial Picture Looks Better

Royal Alexandra Hospital was in a much sounder financial position during the first two months of this year than had been expected.

At Friday's meeting of the hospital board, it was announced that expenditures in January and February were $238,408.59. This is $7,000 less than had been estimated.

Although the absolute spending increase over 1949 was approximately $4,000 for January and February, the gross earnings from patient fees was $20,000 more than the 1949 figure.

The Board received a recommendation from the Finance Committee to increase the charge for private patients in the hospital annex from $4 to $5 a day, effective April 1.

Recommendation was also made for capital expenditure of $13,524.25 for new equipment and repairs.

Jail Conditions Bad For Youth

Addressing the annual provincial meeting of the society in Calgary yesterday, he urged an accelerated movement toward reform.

"A large percentage of the inmates of our jails and penitentiaries are young men," said Mr. Blackburn. "In Prince Albert penitentiary six percent of those sentenced from Alberta in 1949 were juveniles and 38 percent under the age of 23. Approximately two-thirds of all those sentenced to our jails are under 30 years of age."

The John Howard Society believes Alberta citizens will expect "facilities for the reformative treatment of the young offender" to be provided when the seriously overcrowded conditions in the jails are alleviated, said Mr. Blackburn.

City Staff Needs Space For Offices

Current budget was under discussion by city council last night, but Mayor Sid Parsons was far ahead.

He said a new civic office block would be an absolute necessity within three years.

"Our administration is spread over three buildings and we can't carry on extra work without more space," he said.

ETS trams and buses need seven passengers per mile to break even. During 1949 they carried 7.3 passengers per mile, said Mr. Ferrier.

ETS has stopped buying some forms of insurance from line companies because rates were too high. It has already built up a $155,000 fund to carry its own, said Commissioner Hodgson.

Congestion at downtown traffic lights slow trolley bus schedules from an estimated six minutes around the 102 street loop to anything from eight to 17 minutes, reported Mr. Ferrier.

"That bears out my contention that buses should be routed straight through the downtown area, with no loops," said Ald. Mitchell.

No water rate increase is planned next this year, W. R. Mount said in answer to Ald. Hanna's query.

"It's still in the rumor stage," he said.

"Many, many" cars are left on city streets for months at a stretch by owners who can't be found, Police Chief Reg. Jennings said.

"We haul them away if owners in front of whose homes they are parked insist on it," he added.

This year's police estimates include an item for 30 tear gas bombs at $14 each. None has been bought for years.

"I hope you don't expect trouble," said Ald. Bowcott.

Motion to Boost Salary Of Mayor Withdrawn

Alderman Dick Hanna last night withdrew his motion to up Mayor Sid Parsons' salary to $10,000, after several aldermen expressed support but suggested the timing was bad.

MOTION TO BOOST

With the city now in the middle of conciliation and arbitration proceedings with its employees' unions over wage demands totalling $800,000, it would weaken the administration's hand if the mayor's salary were boosted 25 per cent, several agreed.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

After Ald. Ken Lawson seconded and discussion raged for more than 15 minutes, Ald. Hanna said he had thought the motion would go through with no discussion. But in view of the unexpected development he would withdraw it.

Ald. Fred Mitchell was not averse to a reasonable salary for the mayor, but thought that was not the time to bring it up, "despite what the press says."

Ald. Armour Ford agreed, but added that when salaries are boosted, Commissioners Hodgson and Menzies should be included.

Ald. Athelman Bisset said the whole matter of salaries should be laid over until a report on all top-level salaries is brought in.

MORE UNIONS ASK "MORE"

Commissioner Menzies said union negotiations over wages are getting "much worse." The city is now in conciliation with the fire department union, with other unions waiting to see what happens. These latter are already in the conciliation stage, he said.

"Don't make the employes more stiff in their demands by passing this," demanded Ald. Bowcott. "I'm in favor of that but this isn't the time to bring it up," he said.

Ald. Hanna interjected that he had not stipulated the other commissioners get no raise. "Mayor Parsons' load is the heaviest, but

Hospital Scheme Means Mill Boost

IN LEGISLATURE

Rate Jump of 2.06 Forecast If Plan Adopted in Edmonton

Operation of Alberta government's new hospitalization scheme would cost Edmonton taxpayers an increase of 2.06 in the mill rate.

But it would provide all residents of the city, both ratepayers and non-ratepayers, with public ward hospitalization as needed at a cost to them of $1 a day each.

Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, public health minister, outlined the costs of the scheme in the legislature yesterday.

The house gave second reading to the bill. It would extend $1 a day public ward hospitalization to all residents of cities and other municipalities where councils enter into agreement with the province to share remaining costs.

In Edmonton, the municipality's share could be financed by a 2.06 increase in the mill rate, and in Calgary a 2.2 increase would be sufficient, Dr. Cross said.

Shorter Week Promotion Is Before House

Strong bid for a 40-hour five-day week for Albertans is being made by CCF members of the legislature.

Calgary CCFer A. J. E. Lieser mer yesterday introduced an amendment to the Alberta Labor Act seeking to reduce maximum hours of work from 48 to 40 per week on a five-day instead of six-day basis. His motion was seconded by CCF Leader Elmer E. Roper.

Hon. Dr. J. L. Robinson, minister of industries and labor, will speak to the motion later in the session.

Albertans won't know whether the rents they pay will be under federal or provincial jurisdiction until the Dominion government's rent decontrol plans are clarified.

But Premier E. C. Manning told the House yesterday even if the Act is approved it will become law only on proclamation.

Meanwhile, the government will wait until the Dominion has stated the provisions of its plan to decontrol rents.

University of Alberta chancellor will be appointed for a six-year period instead of the present four years if a bill introduced in the legislature is approved. This term will correspond to that of members of the university senate.

Research Council of Alberta may soon have a paid director, Bill introduced yesterday in the legislature provides for appointment of a director by the cabinet and also makes provision for the payment of a full salary. At present University of Alberta president, Dr. Robert Newton, is acting as director.

About $3,000,000 of provincial government funds will be invested this year in a revolving loan fund from which school districts may borrow for building needs. Hon. Ivan Casey, education minister, told the legislature yesterday.

School districts will be allowed to borrow up to $500,000 for 25 per cent of their needs. Loans will be interest free and repayable over 10 years at 50 cents on the dollar.

Edmonton Butchers and Packers Supplies Forced to Move

Excavations for the new Macdonald Hotel are forcing the removal of Edmonton Butchers and Packers Supplies from the Larue and Picard Block, 9955 Jasper Avenue. A landmark in Edmonton, the building was erected over 60 years ago when Edmonton's population was under 1,000.

The Edmonton Butchers and Packers Supplies was established in 1928. In 1937 George H. Nowell purchased the business from the previous owners. In 13 years the firm has shown steady growth. A new building was erected in 1935 at 9635 102A Ave. where butcher's boxes and show cases are manufactured and refrigeration units are installed.

New and up-to-date premises are now under construction at 10722-4-6 Jasper Avenue which will be occupied by this enterprising firm around June 1st. Temporary location of the firm will be 9635 102A Avenue, with the same telephone number 25561 as before.—(Advt.)

Motion to Boost Salary Of Mayor Withdrawn

Alderman Dick Hanna last night withdrew his motion to up Mayor Sid Parsons' salary to $10,000, after several aldermen expressed support but suggested the timing was bad.

MOTION TO BOOST

With the city now in the middle of conciliation and arbitration proceedings with its employees' unions over wage demands totalling $800,000, it would weaken the administration's hand if the mayor's salary were boosted 25 per cent, several agreed.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

After Ald. Ken Lawson seconded and discussion raged for more than 15 minutes, Ald. Hanna said he had thought the motion would go through with no discussion. But in view of the unexpected development he would withdraw it.

Ald. Fred Mitchell was not averse to a reasonable salary for the mayor, but thought that was not the time to bring it up, "despite what the press says."

Ald. Armour Ford agreed, but added that when salaries are boosted, Commissioners Hodgson and Menzies should be included.

Ald. Athelman Bisset said the whole matter of salaries should be laid over until a report on all top-level salaries is brought in.

MORE UNIONS ASK "MORE"

Commissioner Menzies said union negotiations over wages are getting "much worse." The city is now in conciliation with the fire department union, with other unions waiting to see what happens. These latter are already in the conciliation stage, he said.

"Don't make the employes more stiff in their demands by passing this," demanded Ald. Bowcott. "I'm in favor of that but this isn't the time to bring it up," he said.

Ald. Hanna interjected that he had not stipulated the other commissioners get no raise. "Mayor Parsons' load is the heaviest, but

UTILITIES PROFIT SET AT $1,412,996

Telephone Lines To South Side

One-seventh the total number of telephones now in operation in Edmonton have been installed during the past year, Mayor Sid Parsons told City Council last night.

During consideration of his departmental estimates, Superintendent R. Christie said he has been promised 3,000 new lines by August, 2,500 of which he hopes to put into immediate operation on the south side.

Within two months he expects to have installed a new cable to the south side which will eliminate overloading which now causes some numbers to start ringing busy when only one or two figures are dialed. Many station phones average a net of $250 each per month, he said, but with 175 now in operation, the system is overloaded.

Hospital Coal Use Is Down

Over 22,000 million cubic feet of gas was used in January and February, 1950, compared to 19,662 for 1949. Coal consumption dropped from 17,100 pounds in 1949 to 12,200

FRIEND AND HELPER

Buffalo's Head Is Bowed With Shame

Buffalo was a proud beast. He roamed the prairies with his head held high and feared no one. He chased the frightened antelope from his path and crushed the tiny gopher with a single blow of his sharp hoof.

Everyone feared Buffalo. He was too haughty to speak to any animals of the plains and wandered arrogantly alone throughout the country, leaving fear and hate in his wake.

HANDSOME CREATURE

In those dark dim days of long ago, Buffalo was a handsome animal. His back was straight and broad, and his shaggy head was held high like the wild stallion.

As he was grazing on a green hillside one summer afternoon, an Indian warrior strolled down the path towards him. Buffalo always ignored the Indian, who in turn feared the wild beast of the plains.

So Buffalo was mildly surprised when an Indian walked towards him without fear. The warrior carried a large heavy pack that bowed his back with its weight.

ASKS HELP

"Good Buffalo," said the Indian. "I have carried the pack for many miles and still have a long journey ahead of me. Would you be kind enough to help me. You are so big and strong you would hardly notice the weight of the pack on your shoulders."

Buffalo was shocked. Here was a puny man, a mere two-legged helpless creature, asking the mighty Buffalo to act as his servant. Wildly he shouted at the Indian to leave before he crushed his body into the earth.

But anger, not fear, grew in the eyes of the Indian. Buffalo thundered and stamped, but the warrior suddenly spoke in a voice that shook the countryside and brought clouds of black to the skies. The heavens grew dark and flashes of lightning tore across the sky.

"You are a worthless beast!" cried the Indian god. "You have the strength to help the weak, but choose to trample your neighbor and bring fear to the helpless."

Grasping the pack which he had been carrying, the Indian god hurled it at Buffalo. All the animals of the plains gathered to witness the action.

"Here is the pack you were too proud to carry" shouted the Great Spirit. "From this day on it shall weigh heavily upon your shoulders and your head will be bowed in shame."

In shock and fear Buffalo fled from the fury of the Indian god. And on his shoulders was the heavy pack. It grew like a hump on his fine broad back until his whole body bent with its weight.

No longer was Buffalo the mighty lord of the plains in shame and fear he bowed his head and looked at no one. Alone he drifted across the plains—a symbol of broken pride and arrogance.

Sincerely,

Jean Walker

MACON, Ga. (UP)—A woman walked down the street with a pistol in one hand and a bus transfer in the other. Pedestrians scattered.

She said she was going to see a man.

Officer R. W. Joiner, who was clearing parking meters in the area, persuaded her to give up the weapon. He described it as a .32-20, with a six-inch barrel that looked "even longer."

Uncle Wiggily's Bedtime Story

Buster and Bunty were hurrying back to Uncle Wiggily's sky auto which was parked in a green field of Early Spring Land. The two little rabbits were anxious to get started painting a new picture on the back of Teenie the little turtle.

Teenie's other back picture had been washed off in the brook where he went in swimming.

Hurrying with Buster and Bunty were Double Dip and Jelly Bean the funny little fat piggie boys. The only one who wasn't hurrying was Teenie the turtle. Being a turtle, with short legs like a dachshund, Teenie had to crawl slowly.

"Oh, Teenie, dear, please hurry!" Bunty looked back. The turtle was some distance behind. "Can't you hurry? Buster and I want to paint a new picture on your back. Then you can show it to all the other turtles when we get home to Woodland. Hurry, Teenie dear!"

"I—I'm doing the best I can," said Teenie. "But I have such short legs, like a dachshund, that I can't go fast."

Then, suddenly, Jelly Bean jabbered in his funny talk:

"What's that you said?" asked Buster.

"He said," translated Double Dip, "my brother said why don't you and Bunty make a little chair and carry Teenie. He's small. He isn't heavy, being a little turtle. Buster, you and Bunty could easily give Teenie a ride in a chair made of sticks."

"Of courses we can!" laughed Bunty. "Come on, Buster, let's make a chair for Teenie!"

Teenie climbed up into the chair, which was a low one. Then the two rabbits took hold of the chair, one on each side, and hopped on through the woods carrying Teenie the turtle. He had a fine ride.

"What are you little rabbits going to do?" asked Uncle Wiggily as he looked at Buster and Bunty carrying Teenie in the chair.

"We are going to paint a new picture on Teenie's back," said Bunty. Buster told how the other picture had been washed off.

"This time," said Bunty, "we will make picture colors from poke berry ink and from the petals of red, yellow and purple flowers."

"It should be a wonderful picture," said Uncle Wiggily.

"We must mix our colors and paint a picture on Teenie's shell," said the orphan rabbit. With brushes made from some fur from their cute little tails, Buster and Bunty, using poke berry juice and the petals of beautiful flowers, painted a beautiful picture on Teenie's back. He stayed out in the sun until the picture was dry. Then he started to crawl away.

"Where are you going, Teenie?" asked Bunty.

"I am going to look for some other turtles to show them the picture on my back," answered the little turtle. Then he crawled into the bushes.

"Come back in time for supper!" called Bunty as she hopped into the sky auto. And not long after that something happened.

I saw a half dozen charmers today selling at $2.50 and $3 each. Some were made of gay calico, others of fluffy, wooly material. Both were long-eared, wistful-eyed and cute as cute can be.

I'm going to buy a special pink one all for my very own.

• • •

And speaking of rabbits..their favorite food and one of mine has just reached Edmonton shops. It's fresh new-season leaf lettuce and it sells at a price of two- tiny-tiny bunches for 15c.

Radishes, cucumbers, snowy-white cauliflowers are other examples of new-season taste-tempters available.

Huge pineapples are selling in their tropical coats at prices reaching well into the bottom of the budget. You'll pay 50c for a fair-sized pineapple..and it's a lot of fuss to cook and prepare it for eating.

• • •

And while we're in the centrepiece vein...shall we have a word or three about the daffodil and tulip situation?

Daffy-down-dillies are selling in their golden beauty at a wide range of prices. And the price for your particular bouquet depends on the size, variety and method of shipment the flowers are graded under.

Some sell for as little as 69c per yard. Others still go at the $2.50 and $3 per dozen mark.

Ohhhh...groan...

Land o' Goshen...I paid 60c for a pound of minced steak yesterday...and just 25c for two pork chops.

Time has come when American buyers are gobbling up our beef supplies and aren't interested at all in our pork. I'm glad I like ham anyway.

Now Paris Is Backing Shantung Too

Although shantung has been one of our biggest and most important summer dress fabrics for the past two years it is only now that it is having big Paris sponsorship as well. You see this is the first time since the war that the French textile industry has been able to import the particular kind of raw silk that is used in making shantung.

Every Paris dressmaker used a lot of shantung in his spring and summer collections—shantung dresses, shantung suits, wonderful new [illegible] gowns. This means that shantung [illegible] standing than ever for us—and that it will stay in fashion for a long time to come.

Ignoring Bad Habit Helps Eliminate It

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Mothers tend to be distrustful of what their own experience has shown them to be good. Ignoring a bad habit, for instance, seems to them to be begging the issue, even though by experience they have had good results from so doing.

[illegible] old, has started to bite her nails, and I would like to stop this before it becomes a habit.

"Because she is a child who has had no other nervous habits and never sucked her thumb, our friends and relatives were startled when they saw her biting her nails. They would shame and scold her and this seemed to make her bite them all the more.

Now, I have wondered if this isn't the wrong attitude toward this habit? I noticed if I kept her hands and mind occupied that she forgot her nails. I also ignore the subject of nail-biting in her company.

Is there [illegible] on her nails so she will get over this habit? She started to bite them just a few days before she went to bed with a sick spel. [illegible] she was in bed she continued [illegible]. When she got up and began [illegible] with toys she didn't do it so [illegible].

You are an accurate observer [illegible] have come to right conclusions about your observations. The busy happy, well child does not need to indulge in nail-biting. It is the tense, nervous, unhappy individual who resorts to this habit to release tensions.

[illegible] her desire to bite nails is tied up with feelings of illness and aggravated by inactivity, your best weapons against it are health and pleasant activity.

Also since soft nails are easier to bite than stiff ones, the use of a colorless nail enamel will be discouraging to random nibbling. She'll want to keep those pretty nails intact and they won't be easy to chew. You should keep them filed closely so that there are no rough [illegible].

Overweight Is Burden To Looks and Health

By Josephine Lowman

Overweight is a burden to a woman because she knows it makes her look so much less attractive. This, in turn affects her personality because the foundations of charm are naturalness and self-confidence.

However, there is an even more important reason for keeping to your correct weight. It affects your health. Every ten pounds more than you need is just that much burden you must carry around with you. It puts a strain on your heart and your arches and your blood vessels and gives every organ in your body a harder job to do.

Keeping the correct weight is even more important as one grows older. Women and men who are overweight are much more susceptible to many of the diseases of middle life than are their slimmer sisters and brothers.

It is a puzzle why in the world women are willing to sabotage, not only their good looks but their lives, by keeping those extra pounds. Overweight leads to fatigue because fat women are carrying more poundage about and they are less active physically.

They have concentrated so much on the rich devitalized [illegible] that they are almost certain to have eaten less of the [illegible] foods that they should have.

You can be fat and anemic at the same time. As a whole fat women are a tired lot. They are tired because they are [illegible] and they are bored because they do not feel attractive. So often women who have come to me for figure molding classes are astonished at the big upsweep in energy they experience with exercise, proper diet and a loss of pounds.

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 36 "Calorie Chart" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Woman Doesn't Know Why She Is Unpopular

DEAR MISS DIX: What on earth is the matter with me that people seem to dislike me so much?

I am a college graduate [illegible] don't gossip, hard worker in church [illegible] way. I can play music, can speak [illegible] to do any of these things unless asked, yet all the women seem to dislike me because I [illegible]

PUZZLED

ANSWER: Perhaps the reason you are not popular is because you are bossy. Most executive people are even when they don't realize it. The talent of efficiency gets you where you are going, but it doesn't make you friends or [illegible]

[illegible] where they have failed, or perhaps it is because all of us like to do things in our own way and we resent having someone assume authority over us and tell us just where we get on and get off.

Or perhaps the reason you are not popular is because you feel yourself superior to the women [illegible] club work. Perhaps you are [illegible]

I know a woman who has every good quality, but whom people avoid as they would a plague, just because she has too much tongue. She seems to think that the whole world is dying to know every detail of her private affairs and she never lets anybody get in a word about theirs.

Perhaps the reason you are not popular is because you are not friendly yourself. You have got to meet people more than halfway and do a lot of liking yourself if you want to be liked.

If you are not popular, be sure the fault is in yourself. Everybody cannot be wrong about you.

Britain's Hope for Future Related in Club Address

An encouraging, hopeful view of Britain's ultimate future was expressed today by George Vincent, who spoke on "Whither Britain" at luncheon meeting of Women's Canadian Club.

Mr. Vincent pointed out that Britain's present crisis is not something new in her history. "Except for last decade of nineteenth century, Britain's history has been a steady series of perils, often desperate perils, met and overcome.

Key, he feels to present economic survival is how much more they produce. Crucial problem of any British government at present is whether wage increases can be satisfactorily related to Britain's overall producing and export-earning power.

And there is this answer. Britain became great in first place, not because of material resources but because of inventive genius, stubborn courage and adventurous spirit of her people and Mr. Vincent.

Examination of recent history indicated [illegible] of present crisis. Never has there been such a turn over in great industrial economy. Britain entered the war as greatest creditor nation of earth, emerged as greatest debtor.

Something had to be done to [illegible] and extend her overwhelming [illegible] of markets. [illegible] and factors as [illegible] which pay for her [illegible].

Increasing pressure on [illegible] was first given an outstanding [illegible] but [illegible] government [illegible] must respect some [illegible] statesmanship.

"Crisis of present seems to be not on foreign policy or exchange [illegible] and social security but rather courage and energy to [illegible] stark truth on working masses of more work but no more pay.

"Fundamental spirit of British, coupled with shrewd, experienced and honest leaders, and valuable [illegible] scientists, technicians, and engineers will surely come through," said the speaker.

On The Farm

In almost no time at all now farmers will be liberating dairy and other stock to browse on upcoming green shoots of pasture, which brings up the question of the old fence and is it in good repair.

Fence won't stay up without the posts and an inspection sometimes discloses posts that are a pushover even for a vealer.

If wooden fence posts have rotted below ground and the upper portion is still in good condition, a long-lasting and inexpensive repair can be made by reinforcing them with lengths of discarded water pipe.

Cut a length of three-quarter or one-inch galvanized pipe for each post so that it is long enough to extend at least three feet into the ground when its upper end is even with the top of the post.

Then fasten the pipe loosely to one side of the post with three or more pipe straps and drive the pipe into the ground. The straps serve as guides for driving the pipe and are tightened after the pipe has been driven.

A wire frame bent to the profile of a crow and covered with black cloth results in a quickly-made decoy that will lure flocks of crows within shotgun range.

Bend the frame from a wire coat hanger, straighten the hook and sharpen the end. Then, cover the frame with a piece of black cloth or a black stocking and press the pointed end of the wire into the top of a fence post or stump.

Maybe this is too simple. Farmers frequently pack their duds in a suitcase and take jaunt in the jalopy to the city for the week-end and they find their ties all wrinkled when they unpack. Next time lay your ties flat between the pages of a fairly thick magazine and presto, they're like new when unpacked!

Tractors Can Become Farm Fire Hazard

Experience among fire insurance officials goes to show that the farm tractor—a great labor-saving device, can also be a number one fire hazard, if treated too casually.

Farm tractors are designed so that the chance of fire is reduced to a minimum but experts point out that unless the machine is kept in good running order, and is operated on a safety first plan it can be, and is, the cause of many farm fires.

SERVICE

In keeping the tractors well serviced, the important items are mufflers, gasoline lines, carburetors and the ignition system. Trouble rarely comes suddenly and there are usually warnings of defects which can be detected in advance.

If the tractor needs repairing under no circumstances should this be done in any building where fire could do extensive damage. Distance is the greatest protection and the cheapest. A minimum distance should be 80 feet from any main building. Flaming gasoline spreads rapidly.

HAZARD

Combustible material in and around a tractor can be a serious fire hazard. Chaff can accumulate on the engine, pile up on the muffler [illegible]

[illegible] care and good judgment given to driving a car on a crowded highway. There may be no rules of the farm—as there are of the highway—but the slightest accident, if flaming gasoline is involved—can cause a disastrous fire.

The United States harvest of tung nuts, which yield an excellent fast-drying oil for paint use, has climbed steadily from 6,200 tons in 1943 to 66,000 tons in 1949 as new groves of China's tung tree in Mississippi, Louisiana, and Florida have come into production.

Propane gas is helping to keep them down on the farm.

Grades Aid To Farmers

It is fairly well known that many foods are graded and that this method of marketing is of advantage to the buyers.

It is generally agreed too, that grading farm products is advantageous to the farmer. For him it means a premium price for a quality product, with a continuing incentive to maintain quality.

ADVANTAGE

There is a further advantage in grading that is perhaps, not so obvious. In the action of grading, information pertaining to the quality of agricultural production and the incidence of disease of both plants and animals is obtained, and considerable light is thrown on consumer preference.

It is through the study of this information and its interpretation back to the producer that much can be done to improve quality and correct conditions which, except for grading, might pass unchecked.

GRADES

The mere act of grading to an established standard obviously has great value; but its value can be enhanced if it is made a basis for promotional activities which result in raising the quality of more and more of a particular product to the standards established.

The confidence with which Canadian consumers now buy graded eggs is born of the established standards of quality and the co-operation of all concerned in devising plans which raised the quality of eggs—a most perishable product—to the general level of the standards.

U.K. Asks Vancouver Pay Church Repair

VANCOUVER, March 25—(CP)—Citizens today were asked to contribute more than $3,500 for repairs to a small church at Haversham, England.

Since the native sons of British Columbia volunteered to repair the church some months ago, $1,451 has been raised. It will take a total of $5,000 to finish the job.

HEDGES ADD TO BEAUTY

Whatever size the property most people like to have a part of the back garden which is private and is screened from view. Hedges and well located shrubs can accomplish this. Hedges are often cheaper than fencing and they act as a background to the brighter displays of flowers in the garden, says R. W. Oliver, of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

The height, color and texture of a hedge will be governed largely by the size of the property and type of garden which the hedge surrounds. A large garden needs a taller hedge than a small garden. A tall or medium hedge should under ordinary circumstances be mid or dark green in color as its purpose is to act as a background to the garden. A golden, grey or red leaved hedge kills the appearance of any plants in the foreground.

Low hedges or borders, which are used only to give emphasis to the design by extending the architectural lines in plan on the property.

Farm Output

Net agricultural output of British agriculture for 1949 is estimated to be 135 per cent of pre-war level. The 1946-47 output was 123 per cent of pre-war level. The objective for 1952-53 is fixed at 150 per cent.

Farm Experiment At Fort Simpson

Population Receives Aid To Augment Food Supply

OTTAWA, March 25—(BUP)—The Dominion Experimental Farms Service will establish a station at Fort Simpson in the Yukon, the farthest northern point in the service, a Senate committee was told yesterday.

The senate natural resources committee, scrutinizing federal agriculture department appropriations, also was told the Newfoundland experimental farm near St John's was being absorbed into the national service.

PRODUCTS

Dr. E. S. Hopkins, associate director of the service, said the new Yukon station, as well as one at Whitehorse, was to be used to see what food products could be grown in the far north.

The department, he said, had little hope of finding varieties of farm products that could be grown commercially so far north, but he hoped ways would be found to permit the population there to augment their expensive food supplies.

Sen. R. B. Horner (PC-Saskatchewan) asked whether there was any political consideration in the choice of farms to be used as illustration stations.

Hopkins testified, with a smile, that usually the choice of these farms for illustration stations was made with a view to the peculiar condition existing in a certain area. Political conditions were not first in the choice of the farms, he said.

Act Governs Seed Varieties

Good seed is better able to fight weeds. To be certain of obtaining good seed, buy only certified or registered seed. These grades are derived from crops inspected in the field and for which certificates are finally issued by the plant products division, Dominion Department of Agriculture. Certified seed and registered seed are legal grades under the Seeds Act of Canada.

A variety is accepted for registration only after it has been carefully compared with other varieties and found to be deserving of a place in some part of the Dominion.

MINK FARM PAMPHLET

A new bulletin entitled Mink Ranching outlining methods of ranching mink applicable to conditions generally in Canada, has just been published by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Written by Dr. C. K. Gunn, Superintendent, Experimental Fur Ranch, Summerside, P.E.I., the bulletin is well illustrated throughout and carries some excellent photographs showing the various steps in the construction of breeding sheds and pens.

Preparation For Lambing

Now that lambing is close at hand it is time to prepare for this busy season.

Perhaps the most important task in preparation is to see that the ewes are in good condition, and able to take care of their lambs, says P. I. Myhr, Experimental Station, Swift Current, Sask.

Feeding each ewe a pound of oats per day for a month before lambing will ensure that they are strong and vigorous. It will help to increase the milk flow and thereby give the lambs a good start.

"Crutching" the ewes which must be done with special care if they are heavy in lamb, and trimming the wool off the udder before lambing, will save much time later on. When the udder is free of wool locks the lambs are able to get their first suck early, without interference. Crutching will eliminate dirty wool, which sometimes causes trouble and which later must be taken off the fleece at shearing time.

Record Budget OKd BY Saskatchewan

One Member Leaves Gov't In Argument on Spending

REGINA, March 25.—(CP)—A record $55,000,000 budget that Premier T. C. Douglas described as geared to an "expanding economy" passed the Saskatchewan legislature last night after a week's debate. A vote of 29 to 19 was recorded.

Mr. Douglas closed the debate by saying that the services provided under it are no greater than the people are entitled to, and the cost is not more than they can pay.

"We are living in an expanding economy," he said. "The country and the province are on the march. We can't live forever in the retrospect of the 1930's."

The budget had been criticized almost item-by-item by opposition members. One CCF member—Jacob Benson of Last Mountain—announced he would leave the government side and vote against it as an independent.

He made good his threat last night.

MAN IS WRONG

The premier acknowledged Mr. Benson's right to air his views regardless of party, but said he was wrong in saying the CCF was composed of "rubber stamps."

Mr. Benson, in announcing his withdrawal last week, said caucuses should be conferences, not institutions that bind men's wills.

To the budget's chief opposition critic, E. M. Culliton (Lt-Gravelbourg), he directed a reply to the Liberal's contention that the government was spending beyond the paying capacity of the people.

"Does that men the Liberal party is in favor of reducing the standing of (social) service?" he asked.

"There's where we differ. We don't think present services are greater than the people are entitled to, or than they can maintain."

PYRE being set up near palace grounds in Bangkok is for cremation of King Ananda of Thailand, who died mysteriously in June, 1946. Cremation will take place at weekend following coronation of Ananda's brother Paumiphon, who is en route from Switzerland.

Wants Her Shower

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Walpole had to wire up their shower valve after discovering that their cocker spaniel, Prias, was mechanically inclined. Four times in two weeks the Walpoles found the shower running and Prias merrily swishing about under the stream. She apparently had turned the valve with her paw.

U.S. Living Cost Takes Small Drop

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(AP)—New drops in food and clothing prices brought another modest decline today in the United States government's cost-of-living index.

Food prices went down six-tenths of one per cent between January and February and prices of apparel dropped more than eight per cent under their 1948 peak.

These price developments caused the government index to decline two-tenths of one per cent in February. The bureau of labor statistics put its index at 166.5 per cent of the 1935-39 average.

Anything For Laughs Film Pair's Formula

By Virginia MacPherson
Exclusive to the Bulletin

HOLLYWOOD, March 25.—(BUP)—We had a luncheon date today to interview Martin and Lewis.

But getting a sensible statement out of these two screwballs is something no smart reporter ever tries twice.

ADVANTAGE OF WAITER

Gus thought his ears were going back on him.

"Why is it I can never get a date."

Next he pawed over the butter pats, lined 'em up five in a row, and played his own brand of dominoes. And, while Gus looked on goggle-eyed, Lewis picked up a piece of French toast and powdered his nose.

Then he splashed all five pats of butter in his water glass and took a big swig.

LOTS OF LAUGHS

SAVE IT UP

When Dean Martin, the singing half, waltzed in, Lewis threw a couple of forks at him, too. Then he flipped him with butter. Martin laughed as loud as anybody.

Then Martin grabbed the limelight and went into his punch-drunk fighter routine. That takes about five minutes.

By this time Gus had sneaked back with a salad, threw it on the table, and dashed for cover. He was just in time. Lewis sprayed the air with garlic-soaked lettuce leaves.

By this time we gave up.

FINANCE BRIEFS

Steamship Line Shows New Record Revenue

MONTREAL.—Gross revenue of Canada Steamship Lines Limited for the year ended December 31, 1949 again recorded a new high at $25,336,151, an increase of $2,531,831 over 1948's $22,804,320, due largely to the early opening of navigation, a heavy movement of grain and a slight increase in package freight rates, and was achieved despite extensive strikes in the American steel and coal industries. Although expenses and charges were higher, net income available for dividends was also at a new peak at $1,633,528, equal to $7.12 on the five per cent cumulative preference stock, $50 par, and to $3.53 per share on the common stock.

OTTAWA.—(CP)—Carloadings on Canadian railways increased during the week ended March 18 to 74,311 cars, compared with 71,127 for the previous week and 72,991 cars for the corresponding week a year ago, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

★ ★ ★

Higher prices were paid for Chrysler, Warner Bros., Studebaker, Kennecott Copper, Zenith Radio, Eastman Kodak, Sears Roebuck, and Southern Pacific.

VICTORIA, B.C.—(BUP)—The Aluminum Company of Canada will spend another $200,000 on exploratory work in connection with establishment of an aluminum industry in northern British Columbia.

Livestock

EDMONTON, March 25.—Total receipts for this week: cattle 2,047, calves 380, hogs 3,535, sheep 118.

Trading on the Edmonton cattle market this week opened active and firm under light supplies. General quality was on the plain side with very few choice butchers on offer. Prices of the better quality killers advanced from 25 cents to 50 cents per cwt., and held steady for the balance of the week. Packer buyers showed a good interest in all butcher classes, and early clearances were readily made under fairly lenient grading.

Bulk sales of good to choice steers ranged from 22.00-24.00, a few small lots of real choice handyweights scaled to 24.50. Choice heifers sold mostly at 21.50-22.00, with a few lightweights realizing 22.50.

Cows and bulls firmed slightly by mid-session, good yielding lightweight cows selling at 17.00-17.50, and good heavy cows 16.50-17.00. There were odd heiferettes up to 18.00. Good bologna bulls traded mostly from 17.00-18.00, with a few tops at 18.50.

Stockers and feeders were in good demand for export and country delivery. Good feeder steers sold for 20 to 22 with selected shortkeeps up to 22.50. Stock heifers 16 to 18.50 and stock cows 14 to 16.

Veal calves continue steady with good handyweights 23 to 25 and choice lightweights up to 26.

Hogs were firm with sales to coast shipment Grade A 28.50. Sows 16 and stags 12 liveweight. Feeder hogs 17 to 19 per cwt with a few selected feeders reaching 20.

German Socialists Show Disappointment

BONN, Germany, March 25.—(UP)—West Socialists today belittled as too timid the West German government's decision to move 22 of its bureaus and offices into Russian-surrounded Berlin.

The Socialist press office said plans for the shift announced by the cabinet yesterday represent only "a small, a very small step in the right direction."

It said Socialist Lord Mayor Ernst Reuter of Western Berlin and other leaders of the Berlin municipal government also were disappointed in Chancellor Konrad Adensuer's plans.

Shell Oil Company Boosts Alta. Acreage

By C. V. Myers
Bulletin Oil Editor

Land reservations in western Canada jumped almost two and a quarter million acres as a result of million-acre deals by both the Sun and Shell Oil Companies.

Sun took better than half a million in northwest Alberta and an almost like amount in B.C.

Permits were taken in the name of Shell Inland, Shell Provincial, Shell Upland, Shell Comar, Shell Rockies and Shell Wolverine Exploration Companies Limited.

The block is 25 miles thick and covers a distance of 75 miles from east to west. It joins massive holdings of Shell to the south and Imperial to the west. To the north, northwest, and northeast all is clear. The big Shell holding to the south is the block on which three wells have been temporarily abandoned due to frost coming out of the ground and making further operations this season impossible.

TOTAL HOLDINGS

Shell now has 3.5 million acres in Alberta. The Alberta government holds the rights on 132,000,000 acres, about 93 per cent of total area of the province. Shell's holdings now equal better than 2½ per cent of these of the Crown, and rate with the largest of the oil companies.

While only about half the Imperial holdings, Shell's property equals now or surpasses such companies as Gulf Oil, Socony Vacuum, Bear Oil, Amerada, Stanolind, Texaco, Hudson Bay.

REAPING RETURNS

The Royalite Oil Company today began reaping returns on two of the three quarter sections purchased at Crown auction of Redwater leases five weeks ago.

Reserves are being figured by engineers at 200 to 250 barrels per acre foot. While no official figures have been released the dense zone at the top of the pay is said to be less than the 20 to 25 fact encountered.

BIG RESERVES

Assuming that Royalite will have an average pay section over the two quarters of 140 feet and using 200 barrels per acre foot, Royalite would have a reserve of 4,480,000 barrels on each quarter average or 8,960,000 barrels of oil.

This means that Royalite Triad team has brought its reserves at around 30 cents per barrel. The 250 barrel per acre foot fugure would reduce this price by one-fifth.

The Selburn quarter a mile west of Royalite with approximately the same thickness of pay and purchased at a cost of $1,009,000 would rate like reserves, brought at a slightly lower cost per barrel.

OILFIELD BRIEFS

Imperial Oil is testing an electrolog showing in its Golden Spike No. 6 before abandoning. Perforating is taking place at 4,410 feet where there may be a chance of either gas or oil, at the base of the Cretaceous.

Located only a little more than half a mile from the discovery, Sheopp No. 1, which had 545 feet of pay zone, Golden Spike No. 6 encountered a sharp drop off of the chimney like reef structure and missed D-3. A D-2 which dropped 188 feet in the short interval was found to contain water.

Imperial's Leduc 250 has quit drilling at 5,280 feet and the rig is moving off. Michael Borys, the farmer on whose land the well is being drilled, obtained a court injunction preventing Imperial from disturbing the gas under his land although he had no objection to Imperial taking the oil. The difficulty is that the oil will not come up without the gas and even a drill stem test would disturb the gas which Borys claims is his own.

Imperial's No. 20 will have to await court decision. The hole is being left full of mud in fit condition to re-enter when the case is settled.

JONESVILLE, La., March 25—(AP)—The Hardie triplets, who have the distinction of being born on consecutive days, now are at home receiving visitors if anyone is capable of making the trip.

Cuddled close together in a regular sized crib, Jodie, born March 7, and his two sisters, Julia Fae, born March 8, and Judie Mae, born March 9, get a lot of attention from their seven brothers and sisters.
